NO. 156—SEVENTY-FIRST YEAR — VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, J UNE 11, 1929 — TWENTY-FOUR PAGES

LABOR GOVERNMENT TO BUILD CHANNEL TUNNEL?

RIGID TESTS TO REGULATE BERRY TRADE

Closer Inspection to Be Applied This Year—Extra Inspectors to Be Paid by Growers' Associations

GRADING BASIS IS REDEFINED

How Processing Will Operate in Preparing Berries for Eastern Trade Requirements

The berry growers of Vancouver Island and other soft fruit-growing districts of British Columbia are in novelle afraid of the strictest inspection of their produce. For the conviction that the bland stop of strawberries is equal to that produced anywhere, and superior to the greater volume of the production, the request has been made for Dominion inspection of the fruit this year in every stage of the preparation of it for the market.

The fact that the fruit is to go into the year through the good offices of the Provincial Government, which has come to the assistance of the growers, and made it possible for them to get their fruit processed and on Eastern market, makes this desirable. The request made by the provincial growers has been accorded by the Department of Ottawa, so that there will be a thorough inspection accorded.

In the past there has been a limited number of Dominion inspectors working in the province but their number has not been sufficient to guarantee that the fullest inspection could be made. The local associations will pay for the extra Federal inspectors required adequately to carry it out in the fall. At the same time the provincial inspection will be carried out, and the fruit that goes into barrels to be processed will be passed upon by the provincial inspectors, so that there may be no possibility of the blame for the best of fruit being put up.

A message from Ottawa says that the inspection asked for is to be carried

BASIS OF GRADING

The inspection will be carried out on the basis of grades recommended by the Dominion fruit commission, which provides for a No. 1 grade in each class. The berries in the grade for domestic purposes must have the hulls and short stems attached, be free of crushed or soft fruit, free of over-ripe, free from surface mature bruises, hard pecks, moulds and from damage caused by sand, grass or other means. The definition of the grade also provides for a minimum in size, no berries less than three-quarters of an inch in diameter being allowed. To allow for variations incident to careful picking and handling a per cent of the stems may be under the prescribed size and in addition 5 per cent by stems below other grade requirements.

Crates are required to be marked on the grade and packer's name and address.

In the canning class grade provision for field run strawberries, loganberries, raspberries, red currants, ripe and all uniform size color and free from bruised or mummy-face berries.

In the class of tart grade, berries in field run class, ripe and of good

DUTCH SEND BATTLESHIP TO CURACAO

Raid of Venezelan Rebels on Willemstad Moves Netherlands to Take Immediate Action

GOVERNMENT IS LASHED BY PRESS

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, June 10—Stirred by the dramatic raid of Venezuelan rebels on Willemstad, capital of the Dutch possession of Curacao, and suddenly criticism in the home press, the Netherlands Government today took steps to strengthen its Caribbean possession.

The torpedo boat Kortenaer was dispatched from its naval station at Nieuwedep for the Hook of Holland, where she will be on board tomorrow a detachment of landing troops forty strong. The Kortenaer then will proceed at full steam for Curacao to be ready in case of further disorders. Meanwhile the navy department is holding the cruiser Heyden in readiness to start for West Indian waters should the need arise.

Jonkheer Beelaerts-Van Blokland, Minister of Foreign Affairs, ascribed the attack, which he called a "putsch," to irresponsible persons. He declared the fear that it was not likely to lead to trouble between Holland and Venezuela.

During the attack Willemstad, three members of the military police were killed and seven wounded. The governor of Curacao and the commander of the police were kidnapped and carried in a stolen vessel, but subsequently were permitted to return to shore.

While the reason for the attack were somewhat obscure, the Dutch colonial office was of the opinion that the raid and its seizure of the police arms were in pursuance of a movement by the Rickers to be launched against the Government of Venezuela.

The Governor of Curacao, who reported that the mutiny was now in hand, informed the Colonial Office today that the petroleum company of Curacao was not interfered with in any way and has continued operations.

The five hundred "bandits" as the Government report describes them, sailed for Venezuela and have since dropped from sight.

CANADA MAY ASSUME BIG PEACE ROLE

Conference of President Hoover, Premier MacDonald and Premier King Is Suggested

DISARMAMENT TO BE GREAT ISSUE

Startling Editorial in The London Daily Herald Strikes Imagination of Washington

By KENNETH CLARE
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 10.—An air of expectancy pervades the Washington today as the significance of a possible visit of Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Premier Mackenzie King to the capital of the United States was realized.

Disarmament stock, which has been on the rise here since President Hoover's Memorial Day address and reference to Anglo-American relations, opened strong.

The possibility suggested in The London Daily Herald today that the heads of the British and United States Governments might come together over the conference table with the head of the Canadian Government, to set not only as the representative of his own nation, but traditionally as interpreter among the English-speaking powers of the world, seized the imagination of Washington.

There is no reason to suppose that President Hoover would not be willing, perhaps even eager, to invite the two premiers to meet him in the latter part of the Summer in Washington to talk over disarmament.

SITES UP DISCUSSION

LONDON, June 10—The possibility of a disarmament conference at Washington between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, President Hoover of the United States, and Premier Mackenzie King of Canada, was thrust into the forefront of political discussion today from two different sources.

The Labor newspaper, The Daily Herald, said Premier MacDonald not only desired personal consultation with President Hoover on Anglo-American relations, but was willing to go to Washington for the purpose. The Sunday Observer yesterday had an editorial urging such a gathering at Washington, where the understanding cordial between Canada and the United States could be extended to the Atlantic Ocean.

The Sverige hopped off from Bergen, Norway, on the second jump at 6 a.m. (E.S.T.) yesterday, and reached Skaptaeze slightly more than eleven hours later.

Echo of Rev. Robertson Orr Case Is Heard by Assembly Now in Session at Ottawa

OTTAWA, June 10.—The application of W. W. Fraser, former elder of Central Church, Vancouver, that he be readmitted as a member of that congregation, which ceased to be a member of the Presbyterian General Assembly in session here, has been referred to the assembly's judicial committee which was appointed by the moderators.

The clerk of the assembly, Rev. Dr. Wardlaw Taylor, who is for Fraser's agent, will go before the committee and urge that under the laws of the church, Mr Fraser has every right to be readmitted into that congregation.

Mr Fraser's conduct throughout has been most worthy, Dr Taylor said in an interview today. A serious difference of opinion arose some time ago in the congregation in connection with the then minister, Rev. Robertson Orr. In the hope that this action would unite the congregation once more, Mr Fraser, who has been an elder since the church was organized, and in good standing, resigned from the congregation.

Now that peace has been restored, explained Dr Taylor, and the object for which Mr Fraser had resigned been accomplished, the former elder desires to be again admitted again as a member of the congregation. Central Church is entitled to readmit him as he had carried his appeal through the course of the church up to the General Assembly. He had called upon the assembly to instruct the Central Church to readmit him as a member.

Upon money bags all the foot of the glaciers it has lived ever since and today its haunts are about Moraine Lake, whose beautiful glacier is one of the attractions of the Rockies.

Grain Parcel Trade Grows At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 10.—A feature of the grain trade movement at the port of Vancouver is pointed out in the harbor board figures as ship movements in the grain traffic over the past eighteen months. Parcel shipments are increasing, and bulk cargoes are reducing. The tramp vessels are now taking lumber above and grain below deck and this is proving beneficial to the basic lumber trade as well as the grain export business.

Up to 6 a.m. today, the report of grain reached 89,750,813 bushels for the year, and the cargo was carried out in 137 full ships and 4.8 parcels. For the same date 1927-28, commencing August 1 and ending July 31, the total export was 80,254,688 bushels, carried in 142 full cargoes and 346 parcels.

SITUATION IN SASKATCHEWAN IS UNCERTAIN

Dr. W. A. Arthur Repudiates Suggestion That He Will Support Liberal Government

OFFICIAL COUNT BEING AWAITED

REGINA, June 10.—Strongly repudiating the suggestion he would act with the Liberals, Dr. W. A. Arthur, (Conservative-Independent) for Cannington, today made his position clear.

"I ran against the Liberal Government, and won. I strongly resent the suggestion I would support Gardiner's Government. It is ridiculous."

Dr. R. Stipe, Progressive candidate-elect for Hanley, announced this afternoon that he would not support a government headed by Dr. Anderson.

No new moves have been made in the political field over the week-end. Premier Gardiner stated Saturday that he would have no public statement to make until official count in all constituencies is completed next Thursday, and until it has been ascertained whether there would be any justification in seeking recounts in a number of seats that appear to be "close" at the present time.

YORKTON, Sask., June 10.—Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Conservative party leader in Saskatchewan, visited Yorkton at the week-end and announcement was made of a meeting of Opposition forces in Regina on Tuesday.

"The fact stands out quite clearly," he said, "that the Gardiner Government has been defeated. The majority against the Government leaves no room for doubt as to the will of the people. I would say there is only one course before the Government and that is resignation."

To the attitude of the Independents and Progressives, that sorty is quite clear. They were elected in direct opposition to the Gardiner Government. In no one of the nine seats was there a Conservative candidate. The Opposition has a majority of nine, and the winning of the two deferred seats will increase this to eleven. Even if the seats are won by the Liberals the Opposition would still have a majority of seven, which would be quite sufficient to carry on. The Independents, Progressives and Conservatives have co-operated for the past four years. Surely they can co-operate as a government.

HOURS OF LABOR CONVENTION TO BE RATIFIED

LONDON, June 11.—The Herald Labor'te newspaper, says the British Government has decided to take steps immediately leading to the ratification of the Washington convention limiting hours of work in industrial undertakings to eight in the day and forty-eight in the week. Miss Margaret Bondfield, as Minister of Labor, was reported to have instructed Humber Wolfe, British delegate to the International Labor organization, now in session at Geneva, to announce this decision there today.

Sir Charles Wakefield Proposes Memorials to First Atlantic Flyers

A cable from England announces that The London Times, Morning Post and Daily Telegraph are publishing a letter from Sir Charles Cheere Wakefield, Bart., proposing the erection of a memorial at St. John's, Newfoundland, and Clifden, Ireland, to perpetuate the memory of the late Sir Arthur Whitten Brown, who were the first to fly the Atlantic. Their great flight across the ocean took place June 14-15, 1919.

At many points throughout the British Empire the tenth anniversary of this immortal achievement is being celebrated. Sir Charles Wakefield is the head of the great British company which bears his name, and is known as the British Empire's "Patron Saint of Flying."

All the berries possible will be sold on the fresh market, either in British Columbia or the prairies. This is the most profitable form in which the fruit can be sold.

TO CHECK GLUT

Endeavoring to place all the berries that can possibly be taken care of in the British Columbia and the prairie markets for growers will provide all that the various associations can place. At most, however, as the word is given out that there is a glutstock of fruit on these markets, picking for the fresh delivery will be cut-off, and the pickers will divert the fruit in the direction of the cold storage plants, where it will be made ready for processing and shipping to the great canneries of Eastern Canada.

There will be no picking into pails, as was the method followed in preparing for the local jam factories where fruit went quite fresh to the industry. In the case of catering for the distant market it is necessary to have the fruit kept in a perfect condition, and quite an elaborate process is required.

The picking will therefore be conducted for this line of operation in a careful way. Our Fruit going Home four pound tinned baskets similar to the containers in which cherries find their way to the consumer. This allows of the fruit being not only kept in better shape, but it allows also for the easier inspection of it, and with less damage to the fruit.

Six of these baskets will go to a crate, and inspection can be made very rapidly. A box of this character can be transferred to another box by simply upturning the basket.

In order that there may be no fault found with the fruit which is processed, the inland associations, including Saanich Fruit Growers, Gordon Head Fruit Growers and Keating Co-operative Exchange have all agreed that each association will pay the cost of an extra Federal inspector in each area. This will mean that at every part of the country to be processed will be thoroughly passed upon.

INSPECTION AT PLANTS

The provincial department will place an inspector in each of the cold storage plants which are utilized in the handling of the fruit, which will be that of B Wilson Company in this city who will act for the Island berries, while the Mainland crops will be looked after in New Westminster and Hatzic.

In handling the fruit for processing, it is necessary to get it as quickly as possible to the cold storage, where it will be brought into refrigeration, without loss of time.

Copper bells will be provided for the carrying out of the inspection of the fruit as the plant, and there will be twenty-eight feet in length and twenty-six inches wide. The berries are dumped upon this bell, which acts as an endless conveyor, carrying the fruit in front of girls, who will remove all extraneous material that may have collected in the boxes with the fruit.

Passing to other conveyers, the berries that are in good condition will be eliminated while at the same time before leaving the conveyor a spray of water will hit the berries, both from below and above.

The berries then pass through a funnel into the barrels waiting to be filled, and as they pass in an elevator, will take care of the weighing automatically of the fruit and the sugar, so that two pounds of the former finds its way into the container for every pound of sugar that enters.

REFRIGERATION PROCEEDS'

But the work is by no means then completed. With 400 pounds in each barrel, three hundred pounds of berries and 150 pounds of sugar, care must be taken that these constituents are properly mixed and kept mixed until they assimilate. The contents must be brought to a low temperature and kept at a fairly low one until the berries reach the jam factories.

The berries are placed in a sharp freezer, about five degrees below zero, for not longer than forty-eight hours, and then kept at about fifteen or twenty degrees above while the processing operation goes on for thirty days. In order that the fruit and the sugar may be kept in close contact in the barrels and carry out the process that is intended the barrels are regularly rolle dover, and kept upended for one month, when the processed fruit is ready to go forward in the barrels in which they were packed. After the assimilation is complete, the shipping of the barrels will be made by cold storage cars to the markets.

The Provincial Government has entered into an arrangement by which, through the industries branch, the funds will be found for the cleaning of the barrels, and the sugar. The growers must take full responsibility for the berries, and at the same time on the sale of the berries the Government advance becomes a first charge on the proceeds.

INSTITUTES PROGRESS IN CARIBOO AREA

Mr. W. J. Bonavia, Superintendent, Returns From Extensive Tour in Northern Interior

COYOTE PROBLEM IS TROUBLESOME

Mr. W. J. Bonavia, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes for the province, returned about the end of the week from a trip which had taken him through parts of the Interior in the vicinity of Kamloops and Salmon Arm and up into the Cariboo. He attended the district conference of the Institutes for Lillooet-Cariboo. There was deep interest manifested, he reports, in the various gatherings. At Williams Lake meeting eleven out of the thirteen local Institutes were represented at the gathering.

Mr. Bonavia has again left on another trip into the Interior, when he will visit the Institutes, and consult with the officers and others on the work of the organization.

The participation has increased upon the increasing number of sheep that are being raised in the ranch country. There is, he says, a very radical increase in the past two years in the number of the flocks. In the cattle-raising sections of the Cariboo which he visited, the conditions seemed to be quite satisfactory for the opening of the season.

WILLIAMS LAKE PROGRESS

At Williams Lake, which was visited for the purpose of attending the district conference of Institutes, Mr. Bonavia says there is a decided increase in building operations. The place is taking on quite an air of advancement, and a number of buildings are going up.

Mr. R. C. Bias, president of the Lillooet-Cariboo Farmers' Institutes, presided at the gathering held there, and he felt that with the good progress that had been made in the district, it was encouraging that the district might now deal with some larger problems affecting the farmers.

TROUBLE WITH COYOTES

Mr. Roderick Mackenzie, M.P.P., for the Cariboo district, opened the afternoon session, giving a very interesting address on the problems of farmers and country storekeepers. Reference was also made to coyote depredations, public health matters and the P.G.E. meeting.

Mr. C. C. Ross, district agriculturist, Prince George, who attended the meeting by special request, owing to the excellent work that he had done in organizing Institutes in the district, when he had been stationed at Williams Lake in 1927-28, gave a most interesting address, referring to livestock, range control, marketing problems, and other matters of strong local interest.

Mr. H. E. Wray, district poultry instructor, of Salmon Arm, gave a most interesting address on the possibility of poultry-raising in the Cariboo. It appeared from questions that were asked that some delegates were interested in turkey raising also.

Mr. Bonavia outlined the activities of the Institutes.

Mr. J. M. Yorston, member of the advisory board of District "H," reported on his work as advisory board member, referring briefly to the meeting of the board at Victoria last December, and emphasizing the importance of the coyote question in the Cariboo. He felt that the extermination of these pests was essential for the progress of the livestock industry in the district.

During the discussions that ensued, it was suggested that, with the completion of the Williams Lake might be a better centre for the district agricultural than the Mile House, to which point he had been changed.

Discrepencies in the grading as between the different markets of Vancouver were referred to. On the conclusion of the representations, this matter was referred to the dairy commissioner for investigation.

The district agriculturist agreed to take up the matter of complaints as to contamination of seed grain by noxious weeds.

Land-clearing problems in the northern part of the Cariboo were spoken of strongly by Mr. J. M. Yorston, who outlined a scheme with regard to the Government purchasing a stump puller at moderate cost which could be loaned to farmers and used in combination with dynamite powder to clear land far more economically than could be done by the individual. A resolution favoring this plan was passed after some discussion.

Premier Mackenzie King and the Canadian Government would play an important part in any discussions, both newspapers pointed out. The Herald suggested that Canada would likely take the view that it would be essential that Canada be represented at such a meeting.

The Press Association commands that at today's meeting of the Cabinet the Government began the task of laying the foundation of its policy which is to be formulated in the terms of the Speech from the Throne which will be delivered at the opening of the new Parliament.

SPEAKER SAYS JAPAN MAKING FINE PROGRESS

Mr. C. H. Thorn, Kobe Business Man, Tells Victoria Gyros of Post-Earthquake Activities in Nation

PARTICIPATION IN ATHLETICS STRONG

"Japan is going ahead very progressively, and is destined to play a leading part among the nations of the world," stated Mr. C. H. Thorn, business man of Kobe, Japan, in speaking at the Victoria Gyro Club luncheon yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce Cafe. President Harry B. Dawson presided.

Mr. Thorn, who has spent forty years in Japan, prefaced his address with a reference to the earthquake in that country with its loss of 200,000 lives.

The speaker told of post-earthquake activities, and described the building development that was taking place in the larger Japanese centres. The streets of Tokio had been widened, but the buildings were more of a temporary nature. In Yokohama there were five subways and bridges, and really fine homes and big business were being erected. The automatic telephones were now also in use. "Yokohama will come back a very splendid city," he said.

The labor question was a matter of importance, and required the most careful attention of governmental leaders.

MANY FACTORIES

"There is a great number of factories in Japan, including those of the Ford Motors, General Motors and the Dunlop Tire Companies, which employ many thousands of men. Traffic is regulated by signals, the Japanese being anxious to modernize facilities for traffic control. There are already large and fifty small department stores in Japan, and they declare a dividend of from 14 to 18 per cent. a year. The press is very active and the newspapers have enormous circulations," Mr. Thorn observed.

Touching on athletics in Japan, he said everything from tennis and baseball, hockey, boxing, soccer and swimming were part of the western sports in which they took part. "For Japanese have taken our sports and developed them, and they will soon be able to compete with our best."

The speaker contrasted the difference between Japanese women of forty years ago and those of the present day. "Although the husband is still very much the lord and master, the women are gradually climbing to a higher plane. They attend the theatre with their husbands, they have their own clubs, and the Japanese flappers are very much like the ones in Canada and the United States."

In concluding, Mr. Thorn expressed admiration for the wonderful way in which Japan and the Japanese have come through the earthquake, have rebuilt their places, and are making substantial progress in development of the country.

Mr. Thorn was for years the proprietor of a printing and publishing business in Yokohama, but lost practically the whole of his interests there during the earthquake. He is now stationed at Kobe with a American Radio Corporation.

The Gyro Trio, composed of Gyros Arnold W. Trewett, Dr. Harry Johns and Douglas Park, rendered selections, which were much appreciated.

Secretary William Hudson announced that the Vancouver Gyro Club would hold its annual golf tournament in the Terminal City tomorrow, and Victoria Gyro golfers were invited to take part in the competition.

In British Columbia Court of Appeal

Dobie vs. Canadian Pacific Railway Company—The appellant, in 1926, met with an accident when traveling on a train. He was then nine years old. It was alleged that the train had slowed down at a station in Alberta. Appellant, believing the train was stopping, was doing out through the rear door on to the vestibule. As he was passing through the door the train gave a sudden jerk forward. Appellant was thrown down the steps by which passengers enter and alighted from the car, the platform and door protecting the steps having been left open. Appellant seized the handrails at the foot of the steps and tried to pull himself back on to the train. The train was gaining speed rapidly and appellant was unable to pull himself back, and he let go of the rails and fell on the track between the cars. Appellant had both legs cut off by the following car. He claimed damages on the ground that respondent was negligent in leaving the door of the car open and unguarded and in starting the train forward with a sudden jerk after slowing down. It was also claimed that respondent omitted to exercise the care necessary in carrying a passenger a child who was not old enough to appreciate the dangers of the situation. At the trial of the action a jury found that respondent was guilty of negligence and assessed damages at $19,000. The trial judge decided that there was no evidence upon which a jury could reasonably find that respondent had not complied with all statutory requirements. There was no legal duty imposed upon respondent to keep vestibule doors at all. There was no evidence that the doors were defective or left in such a way as to invite a passenger to rely upon their structure or condition. He considered that the action was barred under the provisions of the Railway Act, and dismissed the action.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment.

Mr. A. Leighton and Mr. D. A. Tait for appellant. Mr. J. E. McAlister for respondent.

Poulin vs. LaJoie—This was a motion for extension of time within which to set down an appeal. The court drew a distinction between an application for extension of time to give notice of appeal and an application for an extension of time for filing appeal books. The granting of further time to give notice of appeal is duly given, an extension of time for filing appeal books is a measure of relief on a question of practice.

The court granted the application. Mr. J. D. Cloutlige for appellant. Mr. F. H. O'Halloran for respondent.

Rains Decrease Fire Hazard in Whole of B.C.

"Reports indicate generally cool and wet weather over the whole province, with fire hazard very slight so none. The Northern District has been the site of an exceptional number of fires, but conditions are easing there on account of the rapid growth of new vegetation. The district immediately west of the Coast Range continues to be the direst section of the province."

This is the summary offered by the forest branch of the province, in describing the situation at the end of the week, with regard to forest fire dangers. The only parts of the province to which the situation is reported to be dangerous are Prince George and Prince Rupert, where it is hot and dry.

There have been 396 fires to date, compared with 247 last year, and 180 the year before for a corresponding period.

CHINESE PAY COURT FINES

Eighteen Orientals Plead Guilty to Charges of Being Inmates of a Common Gaming House

Eighteen Chinese were arraigned before Magistrate George Jay in the city police court yesterday to face charges of being inmates of a common gaming house at 555 1-3 Pleasant Street. All the accused entered a plea of guilty through counsel, Mr. William C. Moresby, K.C., and each was fined $5.

The circumstances of the case were related in the court by Sergeant James Florence, who with other police officers conducted a raid on the Flagward Street premises at 7.30 p.m. on June 8. The eighteen accused were in the gaming house when the police entered. The usual gambling paraphernalia, together with a total of $8.60 cents found on the gaming tables, was produced in court.

Frank J. Maynuck and Robert Lerner, both of Seattle, were charged jointly with committing a statutory offence here on June 9. The two accused, who were arraigned by Sergeant Thomas Heatley and Constable Fraser Fraser, entered a plea of not guilty through their counsel, Mr. Richard C. Lowe, and reserved election. Hearing of the prosecution against Maynuck and Lerner will take place in the city police court this morning.

Mr. Lowe made application on behalf of the two accused. Bail was fixed by Magistrate Jay in each case at $200, in two sureties.

Monument Is Unveiled at Powell River

POWELL RIVER, June 10.—Sunday was remembrance day here when 4,000 residents gathered while lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce unveiled the cenotaph erected by the Powell River ex-Service Men's Association, in honor of the twelve men from this city who gave their lives in the Great War.

John Mackintosh, A.R.I.B.A., Powell River architect, designed the monument. There was a parade from the township dock to the cenotaph, led by the band and the bodyguard from the Irish Fusiliers of Canada. Members of the Powell River ex-Service Men's Association, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides participated.

President J. Rolinie spoke of the sacrifice of those who died, and said he was gratified to learn that one-third of the employees of the Powell River Company are ex-service men. Alfred Hansen, president of the ex-Service Men's Association, handed over the custody of the memorial, which is erected on public enclosure, to the company. A. E. McPhee, general manager, accepted it as a sacred trust.

NATIVITY PLAY AT CHRISTMAS TO BE UNIQUE

Local Man Writes Play in Which Christ's Birth Is Re-enacted in Northwest Wilds

ABORIGINES REPLACE MAGI

A unique venture in the realm of sacred drama will be presented at the Yuletide festival, which will take place at the Empress Hotel at the end of the year. Instead of an English mystery play of the thirteenth century such as was given last year, an Indian nativity play will be staged, the setting of which is the wilds of the former Northwest Territory in the days of the early missionaries.

The author of the masque is Mr. A. D. Ramsay, of this city, who has related word from Mr. J. Harry Smith, of the Canadian Pacific publicity bureau, of its acceptance and of his intention to make it a part of the coming Christmas programme. The play will be enriched by a musical setting to be prepared by Dr. Williams, of Toronto.

A highly original conception has been artistically worked out by Mr. Ramsay. He has taken the idea and spirit of the sacred story, transplanted it to the Northern wilds of this continent and clothed it to make dramatic drama. In the process of transformation the Palestinian shepherds have become Indian hunters, the stable a stretched tepee, St. Joseph an Indian brave and the Virgin Mary a sweet Indian maiden. Still retaining the setting of the aborigines, three great chiefs from distant warring tribes are the equal of the original narrative, who bring costly furs to the Christ-child in lieu of the gold and frankincense of the Orient. The author has succeeded in catching the atmosphere of his subject, the whole being couched in fitting Indian speech.

Mr. Ramsay went over with the Canadian Expeditionary Force and received his captaincy on the field. He came here last year after several years of ranching to the Bulkley Valley. Other literary efforts include a volume of poems ready for publication.

COLD WEATHER RETARDS CROP

In British Columbia Ground Is Very Dry and Rain Is Badly Needed

OTTAWA, June 10.—Cold weather this Spring has adversely affected field crops throughout the Dominion, according to a report today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on conditions at the end of May. In addition to low temperature Certain areas have suffered from excessive rainfall in the West, on the contrary, the ground has been too dry.

In every province the crops are either below last year's or below the ten-year average.

In British Columbia the condition of most crops is reported as slightly better both last year's figures and the ten-year average. The ground is in very dry condition and rains are very badly needed to bring along vegetables and other Spring crops. Fruit trees came through the Winter in good condition and are very promising.

AERIAL MAIL SERVICES

The Federal Government has provided for the expenditure of $16,305,000 for air mail services in the Dominion, but there is no part of this amount to be utilized in British Columbia. Mr. Venlot, the Postmaster General, says that air mail service on the Pacific Coast ports cannot be considered this year because surveys of mail routes have not been made. There is sufficient money available to allow for a certain amount being spent on the survey of routes in this Province but Mr. Venlot's reply to a request for outlay is that his department has nothing to do with the survey work. In other words, it seems that for the time being the improvement of Canada's mail service and the aiding and encouragement of commercial aviation by the Federal Government are to be confined to points east of the Rockies.

At present the Dominion Government is subsidizing air routes from Halifax to Montreal and from Montreal to Rimouski. These services meet the ocean liners and take the Transatlantic mail to Montreal, and then dispatch it from Montreal to Toronto. It is proposed to establish a route from Toronto to Winnipeg and when that is working to establish a route from Winnipeg to Canmore, so as to catch the fast Transcontinental trains at the latter point. There is to be a service from Toronto to Windsor. There are routes laid out from Winnipeg to Regina and from the latter point to Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, Calgary and Canmore. There will also be routes from Regina to Saskatoon, North Battleford and Edmonton. The Government is not to own the planes but to let the services by contract. In other words, it needs private enterprise as a prerequisite to the development of the air mail service. That, however, does not obviate the Government—the Department of Militia and Defence—from establishing surveys to show the best routes, and as yet no such routes have been determined over the Rocky Mountains or through the passes into British Columbia. It seems that this Province is to be the last to be given an aerial mail service.

GIFTS

Nearly eighty years ago a generous-hearted man established a fund for travellers and emigrants passing through St. Louis. It was known as the Mullanphy Fund and it was a godsend in its brief day. A few years later it was established the trustees had much difficulty in finding anyone to whom, under the narrow provisions of the trust, the proceeds of the fund could be given. A few years ago the fund reached a total of a million dollars. Early last century a certain farm was left by will to be used as a haven for superannuated sailors. Long ago the courts decided that the word "sailor" should include men employed on steamboats. Even so, the fund for "Snug Harbor" exceeds the requirements for retired seamen. The farm was close to New York and is today valued at thirty or forty million dollars. The Hershey endowment for orphan asylums furnishes another example of the way in which endowments sometimes work out. It is now believed to exceed forty millions.

The founder of the Julius Rosenwald Fund—he is a trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation and of the University of Chicago, and also chairman of the Board of Sears, Roebuck & Company—does not believe in perpetual endowments and has written an essay on the principles of public giving in certain present grounds, both historical and philosophical, in support of his contention. He mentions the foregoing illustrations and a number of others from both Canadian and English experience, some of which might raise a smile. He speaks for a fund which provided a baked potato at each meal for each young woman at Bryn Mawr, and says that he has also heard of another, dating from one of the great famines, which paye for half a loaf of bread deposited each day at the door of each student in one of the colleges at Oxford. He mentions the case of the good Dr. Woodward who, in 1727, endowed a chair at Cambridge, directing that the incumbent should lecture for all time on his "Natural History of the Earth" and his defence of it against a certain Dr. Camerarius. It was no doubt the founder's intent to provide for the teaching of science, but before very long his scientific theories became obsolete. Even Benjamin Franklin's "victorious common sense" failed him when he set up two loan funds of a thousand pounds each for apprentices. The class he proposed to benefit gradually became non-existent, and the funds, therefore, failed to accumulate as rapidly as he had expected. He had calculated that in 100 years those funds would have reached £270,000, but they did not come to more than about one-third of that sum. Franklin's instructions were that when a hundred years had passed £300,000 was to be spent in supplying Boston with roads, bridges and fortifications and Philadelphia with a water supply. Long before the time fixed by Franklin those cities had provided these conveniences for their citizens.

Mr. Rosenwald gives it as his settled conviction as a result of his study of the history of charities that while charity tends to do good, perpetual charities tend to do evil. He quotes a recent report that some twenty thousand English foundations have ceased to operate because changing conditions have nullified the good intentions of the donors, and he believes that there are a good many institutions, firmly approved by public opinion today, which will prove unnecessary or useless in another half century. He believes that wisdom, kindness of heart and good will are not gifted to the rising generation, and in support of his principles he created a foundation whose charter provides that principal as well as income may be spent as the trustees [illegible] Moreover, he has instructed the trustees of the fund to wind it up within twenty-five years after the death of himself and his wife. In [illegible] he believes that large gifts should not be restricted to narrowly specified objects, and that under no circumstances should funds be held in perpetuity.

WEEK-END EXERCISE

It is an axiom of medical science that a physically tired community cannot do good mental work. The fact is, however, that in these latter days many spend their week-ends in such strenuous recreation that they start each week so physically tired that they cannot put their best efforts into their daily avocations. Perhaps, more than anything else, that is a reason why "blue Monday" are so common. The medical correspondent of The Times Trade and Engineering Supplement has been dealing with that somewhat prevalent idea that mental and physical work are entirely different. The assumption prevails, he says, that a man may exhaust himself with impunity in physical exercise and yet remain as active mentally as he was before he began. The contrary is the case. Physical exercise tires the brain and uses up the store of nervous energy. In speaking of this the medical correspondent mentioned says:

"This is obvious when it is remembered that muscles are much more difficult to tire than nerves. Even at the end of a heavy day of exertion a man's muscles are capable of a great deal more; it is his nerves that are weary. They are so weary that they no longer carry the necessary impulses to his muscles with the necessary vigor. These nearly nerves cannot profitably be yoked to mental work or to any work. Before he can begin again their owner must rest. It is, for example, a mistake to spend the day preceding a day of strenuous mental labor in strenuous physical labor. Two rounds of golf on Saturday are a bad, not a good preparation for important decisions on Monday morning. Play the golf on Saturday, rest on Sunday, and do yourself good. Golf has saved many a life, but it has imposed on some of its players a burden of the nature of which they seem to be wholly unaware. These people are so anxious to be fit that they remain permanently in a state of exhaustion. They grow dull-witted, that is, weary-witted, and find that work a burden."

The moral of what this medical correspondent says is that if heavy mental work is to prosper then heavy physical work ought to be avoided. In other words mental work and mental games of skill are a good deal more partners at one and the same time. It is impossible to exhaust nervous energy on a playing field and expect to use it in the vocations of life. Perhaps it is over-indulgence in sport, as well as the conditions of modern civilization, that contributes to the growing number of nervous cases. Week-end exercise may become too great an obsession.

While Britain to date has paid the United States £246,000,000 of her war debts she has not received £33,700,000 of war debts she is owed by other nations and the sum of about £75,000,000 in reparations from Germany. No arrangement has yet been made whereby Britain can receive as much from other sources as she is paying to the United States although her own debts was contracted because she went bond for her Allies in the war. Despite all this the United States is again raising the tariff barriers against Britain and so making it harder for her to pay. Gratitude among the nations seems almost unknown and is an immense factor in saving is not a conspicuous characteristic.

WRITERS' SLAVERY

Creative work, so far as I can judge by my own experience which is varied, is harder than any other kind of work. A man of business can do eight or ten hours' job at his trade, and come home to play but alive. A painter can paint all day in his studio and have energy left for a convivial evening. But an author may sit down to his desk absolutely exhausted and incapable of anything, because the energy or concentration necessary for his work is higher than in any business or any profession. I am prepared to maintain that creative authorship exceeds all other arts of toil in the quantity of taking it out of the toiler. It amounts to a rhythma slavery.—Arnold Bennett in The Western Journal.

A man's fortune is frequently decided by his first address. If pleasing others will it, once conclude that he has merit; but, if ungraceful, they decide against him.—Lord Chesterfield.

The greatest imperfection is in our inward vision while we are so sharp-sighted as to see through others, we are almost invisible to ourselves.—Thomas Brown.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

A resident of Saanichton, who for a long time has been a patron of the Victoria Public Library and deeply appreciates the privilege thus enjoyed, wants to know the truth about the misunderstanding between the library authorities and the Saanich Municipal Council and the reason for the arbitrary cancellation of the said privilege. Our correspondent says he cannot understand the situation at all and that nothing has been published in The Colonist throwing any light upon it.

To be quite frank, we cannot explain the situation either with satisfaction to ourselves or to Saanich book lovers, but the complaint is wrong when he says nothing has been published in The Colonist regarding the nature of the misunderstanding between the Saanich Council and the trustees of the library. Alderman Marchant has explained the position of the library authorities, and his explanation was published in The Colonist.

One of the conditions under which the library was established was that it should be free of cost to its patrons. But the library is a virtuous institution and it is not maintained and conducted free of cost to the ratepayers of the city. The Saanich Council has assumed some of the municipal patrons of the library paying a nominal sum for the privilege of making use of the institution. The position of the library trustees seems to be that the ratepayers of the Saanich Council are unsound because it contravenes the principles upon which the library was established and partially endowed by the late Andrew Carnegie. The trustees of Victoria feel that it reasonably be expected to meet the cost of equipping and maintaining a library for the exclusive benefit of the people of Saanich free of cost to those people. The Saanich authorities claim that the representatives of this contention, but maintain that the cost of conducting the institution should be met by the Saanich readers, not by the Saanich ratepayers. The library authorities contend that if the conundrum is to be admitted, the library cannot be a free library.

We can see wrong in our definition of the situation, but such is our understanding of the matter. Then there is another question of a rather delicate nature involved in the situation. That is the question of self-government. In this democratic age, the principles of self-government cannot be ignored without involving the possibility of very serious consequences. The Saanich Council maintains that it is an unquestioned right to appoint the municipal affairs of Saanich. The conditions under which the book lovers of Saanich make use of the Victoria Public Library are the concern of Saanich, not of the library trustees or of any institution representative of Victoria. If the people of Saanich desire to make use of the Victoria Public Library at the cost of Saanich, the Municipal Council of Saanich has the right to determine the conditions under which that use or privilege shall be exercised. The library authorities declare that the library is a Victoria institution, and that no extraneous authority can be permitted to dictate the conditions or terms under which it shall be conducted.

If we were endowed with the powers of a dictator such, say, as Mussolini, The Duce, of Italy, we could settle the matter in very short order. The unfortunate impasse is doubtless in the natural result of the friction which has been brewing between Victoria and Saanich ever since the day when the population of Saanich began to congregate on the outskirts of the city and finally culminated in the creation of new and aggressive municipalities upon our borders.

What would a Mussolini do to settle the library question and every other issue that has embittered the relations between the people of Saanich and the people of Victoria? He would issue an order for the obliteration of the imaginary boundary lines arbitrarily dividing the greater city into sections and declaring that a people who have common interests should all be united for a common purpose. Mussolini would not tolerate their imaginings about vain things and go to work and make Italy what he considered it should be, one of the great nations of the world.

The vital issues between Victoria and the neighbors will have to be settled sooner or later in the only way they can be permanently and satisfactorily settled, whether arbitrarily or by processes more in harmony with the circumstances of this boundary issue, arbitrarily dividing the greater city into sections and declaring that a people who have common interests should all be united for a common purpose. Mussolini would not tolerate their imaginings about vain things and go to work and make Italy what he considered it should be, one of the great nations of the world.

The vital issues between Victoria and the neighbors will have to be settled sooner or later in the only way they can be permanently and satisfactorily settled, whether arbitrarily or by processes more in harmony with the circumstances of this boundary issue, arbitrarily Saanich is adding rapidly at present to its population. proved and improving methods of communication the population will increase more rapidly in the future, but it too is suffering from growing pains and is rent with internal dissension. Growth of population will necessitate extensions and improvements in its municipal services, most of which can only be supplied by the grace of or through co-operation of the parent municipality. If a leader should arise bold enough and courageous enough to settle the issue, and, at the troubles of Saanich and her neighbors could be speedily and permanently settled.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Alice Michaelis

HE SAW THE GOOD

Always he saw the good to men he knew;
He polished aspiring hope and mounting dream
And found some vestage of the brave and true.
However virulous a life might seem,
He knew how hope, long unfulfilled, can wear
Upon the burdened spirit till it be broken.
He made allowance for hearts that bear
The loss that crushes and the grief that aches.
His long life through he trusted and believed.
He saw behind the masks of fear and pride,
With pity for each life by years bereaved
He woke again the faith they had denied.
He sowed love's seed and love he reaped in turn;
Through all the happy journey of his days
Good deed and good in the hearts his bounty fed.
Because he saw the good in men always.

A QUESTION OF NEWS

Sir,—As another Canadian, I wish to congratulate you on your paper (though, personally speaking, I would not walk across the street to see either a game of baseball or cricket). I have read with great interest the letters which have appeared in The Colonist on this subject, and the one, Mr. Editor, which amused me the most was the one by A. M. H. H. George, Cobble Hill. His sneering remarks at England and the English people are absolutely unusual for. I am one of thousands of Canadians who went overseas to the Great War, and who have nothing but admiration for England and its people. Mr. George should remember that the English people are famous all over the world for their sportsmanship and above all, for being good losers—that is something the average American never was.

Mr. George's, unfortunately, like many more in Victoria, a great lover of American "bull," but I am one of many Canadians who are tired of reading about this state and that state, and being told how we do things across the line, and I would prefer to read about affairs in, the different provinces of our own country. Mr. George also refers to the friendly relations the American idiots bring Canada and the Canadian people. Mr. Editor, possibly the most pleasant incident the Canadian schooner, I'm Alone, by an American patrol boat, 200 miles at sea has not yet reached Cobble Hill, also the friendly treatment handed out to those Canadians who were attending the University of Des Moines, Iowa. Well, might not a Canadian learn from such friends good Lord, deliver us!

There is one more thing which Mr. George will allow him such a sink into their heads, and that is that As Canadians, irrespective of our origin, we saw a debt of gratitude to England, because we can never repay, for it was their genial which made possible the great Dominion of Canada as we know it today. These Other Englishmen, Mr. George, for your information, were Wolfe, Brock and Vancouver.

PRESBYTERIANS' BUDGET PASSED

Dr. James Wilson Deplores Lack of Funds for Mission Work Extension

OTTAWA, June 8.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, now in session, touch of the Budgeting and planning for the operations during the coming year. Its budget of $650,000 for administration and church work generally, including synodical allocations, has been approved, foreign mission report received, the pulpit supply mission dealt with and a mass of details of the sight-day gathering completed.

Rev. Dr. James Wilson, of the general board of missions, deplored the lack of funds for extending of mission work, but expressed hope the coming year would yield a rich harvest of achievement for missions.

The budget, which was submitted by C. S. McDonald, of Brampton, Ont., on behalf of the board of administration, indicated that the deficit of $41,000, which had been shown last year, had been increased to $61,000.

Of the estimated outlay, $285,000 had been allotted to the foreign missionary work, foreign missions will need $150,000; colleges and schools, $64,000. An item of $50,000 is to be applied to reduction of the deficit.

The board of administration struck the following allocations by synods: Maritime Provinces, $30,000; Montreal and Ottawa, $110,000; Toronto and Kingston, $250,000; Hamilton and London, $180,000; Manitoba, $16,000; Saskatchewan, $60,000; Alberta, $12,000; British Columbia, $20,000.

Miss Lurlia F. Crockett, missionary to Manchuria, said southern Manchuria lived under unfavorable conditions. Referring to the civil war there, she said, "We had had lived in terror.

In the larger colony of Formosa, Dr. and Mrs. Gushue-Taylor have worked many years. Very feeble, a doctor spoke of their work.

The vice chairman of the board of administration of the Presbyterian Church caused a storm protest, and referred the whole management of a special committee to draft the proposed resolution which will be submitted to a vote of the General Assembly.

Dr. J. R. Drummond, Hamilton, stated that the suggested reorganization provided for the constitution of a board of forty with the principle of parity of clergy and laymen representing the presbyteries providing for addition of ministers had been approved by twenty-seven of the forty-three presbyteries.

Heated debate developed between lay and ministerial representatives on the feasibility of representation by a margin of six to one, it was ultimately decided that there should be no change in the board as at present constituted, with thirty-five members and still-to-be-appointed to act as conveners of the general committees to function in the eight synods of the assembly.

MENTAL HYGIENE PLANS ENDORSED

Local Council of Women Approves Psychopathic Hospital and Special School Classes

Certain recommendations made by the Mental Hygiene Council and sent to the Local Council of Women via Miss Olive Snyder, of the Victoria Mental Hygiene Clinic, were endorsed by the council at its meeting yesterday. One of these asks that the Department of Education be asked to encourage the formation of special classes for children of educational mentality, and asks for the establishment of a provincial training school for institutional cases. Still another clause indorsed the council also supports the recommendation that the Provincial Government be requested to pass an operation at the earliest possible moment a psychopathic hospital and clinic, in order to meet the urgent necessity of having in region for even mild mental cases and insane in order to prevent their proper treatment or background cases as have been done in the past. This also was approved.

As convener of the Local Council's committee on film and moral education matter, Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas asked the members to support a resolution that Local Councils throughout the Dominion be asked to urge the establishment of a quota bill demanding that at least 20 per cent of British pictures be shown in Canada each year. This was indorsed.

In the correspondence dealt with was a communication from the National Council regarding technical education and asking that the Provincial grant for this be extended another ten years. Another communication from the National Council enclosed an excerpt from Hansard proposing the project of the Prairie Rose on fruit dumping.

The council, yesterday and congratulated Mrs. William Grant on her appointment to the board of trustees ward, Mr. R. B. McMillan, for promoting the resolution.

The council received a letter of thanks from Lady Aitkin in response to their letter of sympathy.

As the result of a letter from the Canadian National Parks Association, Alberta branch, approving the appointment in Alberta of a special commissioner to see into the whole question of national parks and town planning, the Local Council Council is inviting Mr. C. L. Harrison, acting convener of the Vancouver Island section of the Alpine Club, to address the meeting on the subject of Vancouver Island parks.

The treasurer, Mrs. C. L. Little, announced that the annual tag day of the council would be held the first Saturday in September. Members were urged to help in every way possible and Mrs. Holmes will organize the affiliated societies.

Miss Mary Lawson announced the tea to be held by the Friendly Relations Association on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cullum, 1118 Fairfield Road, and the Navy League Auxiliary on tomorrow afternoon at Mrs. Ryan's, Head Street. Regimental tea also announced.

CAPT. OLIPHANT PASSES IN CITY

Was Active in Development of Fairfield District—Had Long Association With Various Enterprises

EARLY DAYS SPENT AT SEA

The death occurred yesterday at 831 Madeira Street, the residence of Mrs. E. E. Corbett, of Capt. William Oliphant, well-known resident. Capt. Oliphant had been ill for a considerable period and was brought in from his place at Mill Bay to his daughter's residence on Maddison Street, for treatment, but he failed to rally.

Mr. Oliphant was born at Peterhead, Scotland, on July 22, 1850, and was inured to follow the sea. For twenty years he was engaged in that occupation, possessing both captain's and mariner's papers.

He left he married, and six years later settled in Ontario, where he returned to farming. Later he moved to New York and became engaged in the manufacture of silk products.

From 1895 to 1906 he resided in Scotland, coming to Victoria some twenty-three years ago. He became associated during the really boom with the development of the Fairfield district, residing on Park Boulevard and the adjacent street connecting Vancouver and Cook Streets in named after him.

For a time he was manager of coal mines in Alberta and then he moved to California to become president of the Golden State silk mills at Los Angeles. He entertained his interest in real estate there and in the tabling the Los Angeles News. The difficulties which later arose in connection with the Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., brought Capt. Oliphant into another field of activity, for he devised a scheme to save the shareholders money, which proved a success, resulted in putting the property on a paying basis and earning large sum of the shareholders' money. For this service he was tendered a complimentary banquet.

Mrs. Oliphant died in 1926 and he then retired, returning later to Victoria and resided at Mill Bay. When he returned from his last trip south it was obvious he was failing in health and that the end could not be far off.

He has three sons, Messrs. William, John B. and David B. Oliphant here, one daughter, Mrs. E. E. Corbett, and two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Hay, of Hermosa Beach, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hackaway, of Los Angeles, resident in California.

Interment will be made at Los Angeles, the remains being forwarded tomorrow.

DEATH CLAIMS DENYS NELSON

Was Enthusiast in Matters Pertaining to Early History of Province

VANCOUVER, June 10.—Denys Nelson, Port Langley, died at St. Paul's Hospital today.

Coming to British Columbia as a young man a number of years ago, he engaged in his profession as chemist, and for a number of years was night pharmacist at the Vancouver General Hospital.

He was an enthusiast in matters pertaining to the early history of British Columbia, and spent his spare time in original research, traversing much of the province in search of data. He was a frequent contributor to the press on matters dealing with his hobby, and was the author of an authoritative brochure on the history of Port Langley.

Several years ago he purchased a business at Port Langley, and became a leader in all matters pertaining to the welfare of that pioneer section of the Fraser Valley. Last year he arranged a pageant which was presented in the old fort building on Douglas Day.

On Saturday the Grand Pres. Native Sons of British Columbia at Nanaimo ordered the thanks of the order be extended to him for his co-operation in compiling the story of Langley and assistance rendered to the Native Sons at that place.

THE FORD CAR FUEL SYSTEM

A—Filler Cap.

B—Filter spout screen filters gas and prevents splashing through filler opening.

C—Gas guage.

D—Fuel line main shut off valve.

F—Carburetor Connection.

Simple—Safe—and Dependable

THE Ford car fuel system is simple because it is direct. Gravity flow does away with forced feed. A short feed line with a minimum of elbows and connections is easy to service and eliminates approximately 100 parts required by the vacuum tank or fuel pump system.

The nine gallon tank is so placed that it is well protected from front or rear end collision. Any overflow runs off on the ground with no serious results, since the only point of possible spark contact is the rear end of the exhaust. Three screens instead of one, as in most fuel systems, prevent foreign matter reaching the tank. A solid steel dash separates the Ford gas tank from the engine.

The gas guage on the dash of the Ford car is controlled by a simple float as shown in diagram, being more direct, simple and accurate than any other type. Another point of driving convenience made possible by the gravity flow system is the ease with which the tank may be filled, while the driver supervises the operation without moving from behind the wheel.

PROPAGANDA SUPPRESSION IS DESIRED

Native Sons of British Columbia Take Action on Untruthful Circulation in U.S. Against Great Britain

VISIT TO BELLA COOLA PLANNED

The suppression of untruthful propaganda against Great Britain, which, it is said, is being spread by agencies in the United States, is sought by the Grand Post of the Native Sons of British Columbia.

At a meeting of the executive of the Grand Post, held in Nanaimo, action was taken concerning a circular which, it was reported, is being distributed in parts of the United States and several copies of which have been received in Canada.

The executive decided to send a copy of the circular to Mr. W. F. Castle, Under-Secretary of State in the United States Government, asking him, in the interests of national friendship, on which he spoke feelingly a short time ago in Montreal, to use his influence and authority to suppress literature of the kind and, if possible, to punish the authors.

PESCHAWA CASE

Another matter discussed was the case of Captain Pamphlet, of the ship Peschawa, seized by the United States Coastguard while laden with liquor after Captain Pamphlet had turned into the forbidden waters and rescued an American ship and crew which had been wrecked. Captain Pamphlet is now serving a term of two years in prison and was fined $10,000.

The Native Sons of British Columbia and other organizations have been working for Captain Pamphlet's release, and the executive of the Grand Post resolved to communicate with the Ottawa authorities asking them to consider the Pamphlet case at the same time that negotiations are conducted between the United States and Canada regarding the recent I'm Alone case.

A committee was appointed to work on plans having for an ultimate object the suppression of Oriental fishing in Canadian waters.

The Grand Post decided to request the proper authorities to immediately take in hand and make necessary provision for the installation of fish ladders in streams in which dams or other obstacles to the free passage of the stream exist already or are about to be constructed.

WATERSHED AREAS

The various Posts of the Native Sons of British Columbia will be asked to furnish the Grand Post executive with particulars of parkland and watershed areas that are in the cities and towns in which the posts are located.

Grand Pastor J. P. Hampton Bole and other Grand Post officers will pay an official visit to the Bella Coola Post late in July or early in August, it was stated.

Those attending the executive session in Nanaimo were: Grand Pastor, J. H. P. Bole, Vancouver; grand vice-factor, John Bennett, Nanaimo; grand chaplain, Rev. Peter Kelly, Nanaimo; grand historian, C. C. Pemberton, Victoria; grand treasurer, J. G. Lee, Port Langley; grand inner sentinel, A. O Brine New Westminster; grand deputies, Victor B Harrison, Nanaimo; Bruce A McKirdie, Vancouver; Harold B McDonald, Victoria; H. L. Edmonds, New Westminster; Milton F Johnston, Port Langley, and Past Chief Factor Ray Manson of Vancouver Post.

YOUNG PUBLISHER HAS CONFIDENCE

Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt Undaunted by Former Experiences —Is Visiting Island

Mr Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., who was a frequent visitor to Victoria when he owned Arbutus Island in Sproat Lake, has arrived here with his wife and proceeded Up-Island.

Mr Vanderbilt contended the proposed attraction which the island has for him and also for his wife who has visited here in the past, and it is probable they will endeavor to secure another small home while on the Island, in place of Arbutus Island, which now belongs to Dr. and Mrs. Cooper.

Mr Vanderbilt had great success with his book, "Rome," published last year dealing with divorce and is planning the early publication of "Park Avenue," dealing with high society life in New York.

He is also interested in industrial publicity, through the firm of Vanderbilt & Benham Inc., New York, handling notable publicity features.

He is making efforts to reimburse the shareholders of his former newspaper enterprises, has turned over $40,000 from his inheritance to a Mott fund and has set aside one-third of his earnings during the past three years for that purpose. He has confidence still of succeeding in the newspaper publishing business and hopes to have a chain of small city newspapers at some suitable date.

Tells Dyspeptics What to Eat

Strict Diets Often Unnecessary

It is a well-known fact that some foods give one indigestion, while others do not. Some people can eat anything without indigestion. By omitting from their diet those foods that cause them trouble, they have to eat only what agrees with them, and limiting the diet to certain foods which contain acids, deep food indigestion and make them miserable for the remainder of their lives. Nature is wonderfully kind. Stomach comfort tablets are not, and most people take good tablets to help Nature along and to make digestible wholesome your daily after-eating meal. Stomach tablets are sold by all druggists, comfort tablets are sold everywhere, and most people take them after every meal a little while after they have eaten a good meal, or when they feel the symptoms of indigestion. Stomach tablets are a good drug, made to relieve people of indigestion. Stomach tablets are a combination of magnesia, carbonate of magnesia, and mania. Stomach tablets are sold everywhere, and most people who are habitually troubled with indigestion, find that they can eat anything they want, and digest it easily, if they take a tablet after every meal. Stomach tablets are sold everywhere, and most people who are troubled with indigestion, find that they can eat anything they want, and digest it easily, if they take a tablet after every meal.

VATICAN CITY, June 10.—The Pope today promulgated the "fundamental law" of the new Vatican State in twenty-one articles. The first of these gives the pontiff full legislative, executive and judiciary powers. In case the papacy should be vacant, these powers go to the College of Cardinals, which can only take legislative measures in case of extreme urgency, however.

Canada's Pioneer Power-Plant

BACK in 1883 when Thomas A. Edison personally installed his first electric generator to light the weave shed of the Canada Cotton Company at Cornwall, people scoffed at his optimism and editors took pains to point out the folly of the whole thing. "Why endure such flickering light," they asked "when gas is so convenient? Why run the risk of dangerous eye diseases with this new-fangled electric light?"

Yet this crudely-built generator was Canada's pioneer power plant. True, its capacity was only 150 lamps, but it lighted the way for the development of Canada's vast water power resources. For 30 years it was in constant use and now it stands as an historical antiquity in one of the plants of Canadian General Electric Company . . . a striking contrast to the giant C.G.E. generators at Queenston, each of which is capable of supplying the complete electrical requirements for a city of more than 100,000 people.

Forty-six years have witnessed amazing changes in the manufacture of generators, motors and electrical equipment of all kinds. And Canadian General Electric Company, through engineering and research, has rendered conspicuous service . . . anticipating to-morrow's needs and creating a large share of the electrical apparatus for Canada's industries, her water power plants, pulp and paper mills, mines and farms. In the future, as Canada develops the other seven-eighths of her available electric power, Canadian General Electric looks forward to still greater opportunities of service.

Have you all of your own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you may know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial dentures" is often the extravagant price of self-neglect—false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to help safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and under-exercised, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avail yourself of the best care that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night.

But for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums . . . the dentifrice designed to help firm gums and keep them sound, thus protecting them from the attack of disease.

Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth and helps to protect them from decay. Get a tube of Forhan's—today!

MR. F. ARMSTRONG TO GIVE RECITAL

Victorians to Have Opportunity to Hear Celebrated Violinist Next Wednesday

The second musical recital under the auspices of the Tuberculosis Veterans' Association of Victoria will be held at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when Victorians will hear the celebrated violinist, Mr. Francis Armstrong, in recital, assisted by two leading Seattle artists, Miss Hawthorne Rose, soprano, and Madame Bertha Poncy, the Russian pianiste.

Mr. Francis J. Armstrong, whose musical studio is in Seattle, ignominiously a violin virtuoso, he is equally at home as a most able interpreter of chamber music and has been heard in most of the great concert halls of Europe and America. Mr. Armstrong has many friends here in the city, over his parents reside on Michigan Street, and his last most excellent performance here, at the Empress Hotel, November, 1927, will be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to hear him, when he was most well-deserved ovation.

From a boy violin prodigy Francis Armstrong graduated, by ears of study in Europe and America, into a full-fledged artist and has concertized extensively in both continents, having starred in musical career at the early age of nine. He has received only the very highest praise from the leading musical critics, and has an outstanding reputation among the virtuosi of the bow.

Ethel Hawthorne Rose is a well-known soprano and will charm her audience wherever she goes. The Russian pianiste, Madame Bertha Poncy, will be the accompanist, and concertgoers may look forward to an excellent evening of good music. The piano for the occasion will be a Steinway concert grand, which has been kindly loaned for this concert by Messrs. Fletcher Bros. Lovers of the very best of good music and all those who wish to hear the great work of the Tuberculosis Veterans' Association can obtain tickets for the Francis J. Armstrong violin recital at the association headquarters and club, Tuberculosis Sec. H.S.L., 701 Pandora Street, in the music store of Fletcher Bros. on Douglas Street.

It is sincerely hoped that there will be a capacity house to welcome the well-known artist, Francis Armstrong, and his talented artists on Wednesday at the Empress Hotel, at 8:30 p.m.

UNUSUAL RECITAL IS MUCH ENJOYED

Mrs. W. Ord Presents Norman Clarke in Faceell Concert at Memorial Hall

It is very seldom that Victorians are privileged to hear a recital of the type that was offered by Mrs. Wilfrid Ord of the Victoria School of Expression, in the Memorial Hall, Saturday, when a young performer was the boy singer, Norman Clarke. Of his voice Trunk Judge reports that "it is splendid, well trained and with an excellent diction." Dr. Ernest MacMillan, one of the judges of the Vancouver Musical Festival, is as less enthusiastic. "This boy," says Dr. MacMillan, "has a very well produced voice, with clear resonance and excellent intonation, combined with a fine sense of melodline."

Mr. Norman Clarke contributed some excellent numbers, his contributions adding a positive delight.

Mrs. Ord appeared twice herself—the first time as a most delightful charlady with a weakness for tea. Later she held her audience in tense interest through one of the scenes of Shakespeare.

In a programme where all were excellent it would be invidious to pick and choose, but the singing of the school choir, conducted by Captain W. Carr and the work of Catherine Cyd Clemency Ord and Clarence Erickin should not be passed without mention.

Miss Maxine Graham, who recited with accomplished mastery of the difficulties of diction, presented Mrs. Ord with a bouquet of flowers on behalf of the pupils of the Victoria School of Expression, and Miss Jessie Smith and Miss Evelyn Valiant accompanied the singers and elocutionists throughout the entertainment.

ATTRACTIVE CONCERT

A fine recital was held under the auspices of the Victoria Conservatorion Society on Friday at St. David's Hall, 1414 Douglas Street. There was a large attendance, and an enjoyable musical programme was presented. Mrs. Arthur Dowell gold medalist, accompanied by Miss Jessie Jones, A.L.C.M., gave charming renderings of soprano solos in a fashion that has won for her a widespread reputation. There was insistent demand for recall. A vocal duet by Mr. W. C. Pyfe and Mr. F. J. Mitchell, silver medalist, accompanied by Miss Smith, was loudly applauded, and thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Magnanna Daniels, silver medalist, played several pianoforte selections. A very pleasing item was a sketch given by Mr. George Hallett and Mrs. Malcolm silver medalists. This sketch, entitled "The Bachelorette" was composed by Mr. Hallett, and was well presented. Master Clarence Kirchin, silver medalist, held the audience spellbound by his sweet soprano voice. Miss Winnie Pergerson and Isabel Thompson, silver medalists, presented a sketch entitled "The Gold Brocaded Robe." Both artists acted their parts in a very able manner. Recitations were given by Master Clarence Kirchin, Miss Isabel Thompson and Mrs. Charm, silver medalists, each artist leaving nothing to be desired. Miss Cooper accompanied Mr. Mowe, who gave a violin solo in attractive style. The president, Mrs. R. Thomas, Mr. David Evans, and Mr. Jack warmly thanked the artists for their services, and all who were responsible for the programme. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Bowden.

TALKIES COME TO CAPITOL THEATRE

"World's Sweetheart" Is Heard at Mr. Denham's Debut With R.C.A. Photophone

Mr. C. E. Denham "spotted a winner" when he decided to introduce the talkies to the Capitol Theatre this week by producing "Coquette." Miss Mary Pickford's first talking picture. Mr. Denham has installed a R.C.A. photophone equipment over the week-end and patrons of the theatre will now have two 100 per cent sound pictures, shown within a few yards of each other, from which to make their choice.

Just as "Dawn" was preceded by a wave of excitement before its release, so too in the activities of Sir Austen Chamberlain, so the millions who throughout the picture theatres have been awaiting expectantly to hear "the world's sweetheart" speak her lines. It is probable that they will not be disappointed, although there are few who will not feel that the first few minutes of "Coquette" are a distinct shock to the system.

Gone are the gingham frocks, the wrinkled stockings, the smears of dirt and the mischief which went to make up the child actress, who has been the mainstay of the movies for so many years. In her piece we have a Mary, shorn of her curls, wonderfully groomed, and talking with an American accent, softened by a not unpleasing Southern flavor.

When she made this film it is probable that Miss Pickford foresaw that she had a fight in front of her if she would keep the public at her feet. That she has come through this battle with honors, is proved to do with her piquant beauty which was an accomplished fact ten years ago, but simply because she has proved herself to be a fine dramatic actress with a strong sense of pathos and a good mastery of voice fluctuations.

It is only at the beginning of the film that her sense of comedy gets a chance, and, since this is the side of her work in which she has already proved herself to be supreme, it is as well that it should come at the beginning of the picture, and that her audience should be conducted to her moods of hysterical grief by easy stages. In the latter scenes, when sobbing her heart out over the death of her lover, or undergoing third degree cross-examination at her father's trial for murder, she displays a power which her most bitterly disinterested critic hardly have believed her capable.

She is supported by a strong cast and the play is well constructed and works up cleverly to its dramatic conclusion. Yesterday afternoon the theatre was crowded, and it was evident that Mr. Denham is to be congratulated on his first choice of an all-talking picture.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE "Bachelor's Paradise." Paramount Sound production.

In the feature of the programme today at the Playhouse Theatre Curtis Benton is the author of "Bachelor's Paradise," which has been directed by George Archainbaud. Besides Sally O'Neill and Ralph Graves, the cast includes Eddie Gribbon, Jim Finlayson, Jean Lavery, Sylvia Ashton and the children Colin children, Jim, Charles and Violet.

DOMINION THEATRE A play which was a sensation in New York last season, "The Letter," has been transformed to the screen and will be the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre today and Wednesday. Jeanne Eagels, well-known stage star, has the leading role. The action takes place on a rubber plantation on the outskirts of Singapore. All members of the cast supporting Miss Eagels are stage players, including O. P. Heggie, Reginald Owen, Herbert Marshall and Jean de Limur directed. The film will be presented as an all-talking picture.

COLISEUM THEATRE A new type of novelty in motion picture music light, first used by Universal during the filming of "Sills and Saddles," the feature presentation now showing at the Coliseum Theatre, was recently introduced by a Universal City electrician under a plan formulated by Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Pictures Corporation. Marian Nixon is cast in the starring role of "Sills and Saddles." The cast includes Mary Nolan, Otis Harlan, Sam Dechasse, Montagy Love, Claire MacDowell, David Torrence, Johnny Fox, Jr., Pat Hartigan, Stevenson. Robert F Hill directed.

COLUMBIA THEATRE One of the outstanding interesting facts associated with the presentation of "The Big Parade," now at the Columbia Theatre, is the number of magazines of national circulation that have commented upon the excellence of this epic. Collier's, Liberty, Literary Digest, McCall's, Smart Set, Success, The Bookman, Outlook, The Arts, American Legion Monthly, Judge, Life, New Yorker, New Republic have devoted special articles to the subject. Saturday Evening post has printed an editorial and pictures.

AMUSEMENTS

Capitol – Mary Pickford in "Coquette."

Coliseum – "Sills and Saddles."

Columbia – John Gilbert in "The Big Parade."

SUMMER RESORT ATTRACTS MANY

Hamsterley Lakeside Secures Services of Chris Wade and His Clever Orchestra

Mr. Chris Wade, whose popular orchestra has for some time past delighted the patrons of the Capitol Theatre, many of whom have been wondering where they would have the pleasure of hearing their favorite dance numbers so skilfully rendered, will be gratified to learn that he will be able to hear and dance to the latest dance music by Chris Wade and his orchestra at Hamsterley Lakeside.

This arrangement has only been made possible by the advent of the "season" at the larger theatres, and the management of Hamsterley, always quick to adopt any plan for the enhancement of the pleasure of the many patrons, have arranged that the orchestra shall be in attendance at their usual Wednesday and Saturday dances. Dance lovers are already aware what improvements have been carried out at Hamsterley, but a few of them may be mentioned here. The large outdoor floor has been roofed over and surrounded by an efficient system of linen shutters, by means of which on wet evenings the dance floor is cosid by the breeze which always comes off the lake, whereas on chilly evenings the shutters are closed up making the room warm and comfortable. A beautifully decorated orchestra stand has been designed and has finished in gold and blue tracing. The stand is shaped in an original manner so as to throw the maximum of sound through the large hall where between two and three hundred dancers usually assemble. Mr. Wade, who is recognized as one of the foremost musicians of the Pacific Coast, will thus have ample scope to do justice to his attainments.

ANSWER TO SUNDAY'S PUZZLE

NOTED ZIONIST TO LECTURE HERE

Mr. Maurice Samuel, Novelist, Publicist, and Traveler, to Arrive on Tuesday

Under the auspices of the local zionist Council, Mr. Maurice Samuel, novelist, publicist and traveler, and one of the most brilliant lecturers on the American Continent, will be in the city on Tuesday, arriving from the Mainland on the afternoon boat.

Mr Samuel as the author of some of the most outstanding books, has achieved a distinctive position in the literary world. He is an interesting personality, a keen thinker who has visited Palestine, also an ideal lecturer.

A few years ago the whole world was roused by the challenge contained in that startling indictment which bore the title "You Gentiles." The author, just turning thirty, was Maurice Samuel.

Because of the force and insight which the book revealed, the world recognized that a new figure in literature had appeared and a new leader had risen to assert the intellectual moral vigor of the Jew.

A special combination of gifts and experience has made of Maurice Samuel one of the most brilliant figures on the platform of this country. Among the former are a wide knowledge of men and countries, a simple, forceful style and an ability to rouse audiences to what he feels.

Among his other recent literary achievements outstanding for their interest created in the literary world are "I, the Jew" and "The Outsider," while mention must be made of another success, "Whatever Gods."

On his arrival in the city, Mr Samuel will be met at the wharf by Rabbi Jack Levy, Mr. I. M. Nodel, local chairman of the Zionist Council, and Mr. E. Promson, secretary. A dinner will be given in honor of the visitor at the Empress Hotel and at 8.15 o'clock, by kind permission of Mr. George Deaville Radio Station CFCT, will introduce Mr. Samuel to the residents of the city. At 9 o'clock Mr. Samuel will address a mass meeting at the Congregation Emanu-El, Blanshard Street, at Pandora Avenue.

Mr Samuel, coming to the West for the first time, and advocating the Zionist policy, affords Victoria an opportunity to hear a dynamic speaker and to meet the outstanding personality in the literary world.

Free State Wins

DUBLIN, June 10.—Wresting a seat from the Republican party of Eamonn de Valera, the Free State Government won an important by-election in Sligo and Leitrim Saturday. The Government candidate, Major-General Sean McEoin, was elected with 28,258 votes, while the Fianna Fail candidate, Eamon Donnelly, polled 24,621. The by-election was caused by the death of the former member, who was a follower of De Valera.

CROP REPORT ISSUED FOR ISLAND AREA

General Conditions Are Reported Favorable for Field Crops—Fruit Will Depend on June Drop

SMALL FRUITS ARE PROMISING

Mr. E. W. White, district horticulturist, makes the following report on conditions on Vancouver Island and Gulf Islands:

May was a fairly normal month, although precipitation was below normal. A few good rains occurred early in the month, followed by fine, bright weather. Conditions changed about May 24, with dull, cold, windy weather prevailing. A very unusual hail storm occurred in Victoria on May 25. The last week was fine, with hot days on June 3 and 4, resulting in a change to duller weather.

TREE FRUITS

The bloom is all past and there appears to be a good set of fruit on nearly all varieties, but it will be impossible to make any accurate estimate until after the June "drop."

SMALL FRUITS

Strawberries are now mostly past the blooming period, the height of the bloom occurring during the week of May 19. Strawberries should be on the local market about June 10, with carload shipments following soon after. In 1928 the first carload started loading on June 4 and ended on June 8.

Loganberries are now coming into bloom and should be in full bloom in about a week's time. The plantations are looking generally better since they have made more growth. The new cane growth on Winter-injured plants is generally good and they should produce a normal crop.

There has been considerable new planting this Spring.

Blackberries and raspberries are making satisfactory growth.

Gooseberries were on the market about June 1.

Currants are ripening well.

GREENHOUSE CROPS

Greenhouse tomatoes and cucumbers are now moving in earlier volume.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

Hay crops are making good growth at present, and there should be a good yield of both clover and timothy.

Fall-grown grain crops are making good progress.

Crops of wheat and vetch sown last Fall for "green manuring" purposes on strawberry land have in a number of cases already been ploughed down. This land is now allowed to lie fallow during the Summer and then planted to strawberries next Spring.

Planting of late potatoes has been completed in most cases.

Pasture is good at present and livestock appears to be in good condition.

SHRINERS WILL VISIT PROVINCE

En Route Home From Los Angeles Convention, Several Temples to Tour Pacific Northwest

Only two parties of Shriners went south by way of Victoria and Vancouver to the great gathering at Los Angeles, which has completed its sessions during last week with colorful ceremonial and parades unique in this organization.

However, this section of the Northwest is to have a full share of the parties on their way home, some of the larger temples having selected the Canadian route to return. About 3,500 are due to pass through British Columbia, it is estimated by passenger officials, out of the 78,000 who went to California for the convention. Chicago Medinah Temple, including 1,400 members, will travel through Western Canada from the Coast to Portal using eight Canadian Pacific Railway specials.

Five hundred and fifty Shriners of Moslem Temple, Detroit, will pay short visits to Lake Louise and Banff. Puffs Temple, of Altoona, Pa., is another section routed through the Pacific Northwest, as is also Aladdin Temple, of Cincinnati. Most of these parties are expected between Wednesday and Saturday of this week.

Yesterday color was lent to the streets by a large parade of Shriners of the Osman Temple, St. Paul, including a band gorgeously attired in orange and red Zouave costumes and a drill team in green.

Labor 288 and Conservatives 260, Last Count

LONDON, June 10.—Two Conservatives and one Liberal were elected for the Scottish combined universities in the general election of May 30, it was announced today. This leaves only one seat still to be decided that of Rugby, Warwick, where the election had to be postponed until June 13, owing to the death of the Labor candidate.

The Scottish universities respected their representatives in the last House. John Buchan, Conservative, received 9,950 votes; Sir George Berry, Conservative, 9,283, and D. M. Cowan, Liberal, 6,606.

The one Labor candidate, Dr. J. C. Kerr, polled only 3,867 votes, and was defeated. The standing of the parties in the new parliament is now: Labor, 288; Conservatives, 260; Liberals, 59; Nationalists, 2; Prohibitionists, 1; Independents, 3; in doubt, 1. Total, 615.

CRUNCH! CRUNCH! CRUNCH! IS HEALTH MARCH TUNE

Play it on your Daily Diet!

PATHWAYS TO HEALTH—No. 1

Today, more than ever before, medical and dental authorities are pointing to the importance of properly caring for the teeth in order to have good health.

How can boys and girls—how can grown folks, they ask—develop sturdy, healthy bodies if their systems are being undermined by poison from decayed teeth? Between sixty and eighty-five per cent of the children alone, in Canada, have been found to have defective teeth! And the direct cause of this condition has been traced in an alarming number of cases to their daily food!

Too Much Soft Food

Nowadays people eat soft foods almost entirely—foods which require little or no chewing. The teeth and gums, like any other part of the body, must have proper exercise. Chewing is the exercise Nature intended them to have in order to grow normally and to remain healthy and beautiful. No artificial methods—no brushing of teeth and gums—can make and keep the teeth healthy unless Nature's way is followed also.

The important thing is to build teeth with foods that supply properly balanced nourishment.

Exercise teeth with foods that require thorough mastication.

Both of these laws are vital.

The delicious cereal food Grape-Nuts is admirable for this reason. It comes in the form of crisp, nut-like granules that must be chewed. And everyone likes to chew Grape-Nuts—likes to get this natural exercise that is needed so much because thorough chewing of the crunchy Grape-Nuts grains brings out their delicious flavor to the full.

Tooth-Builder, Also

Grape-Nuts helps also to build sound teeth. Grape-Nuts is a wonderful food in every way. An expert on foods originated it to supply to the body elements which he found to be lacking in the average diet. Grape-Nuts is made from two healthful golden grains—whole wheat and malted barley. By special processes of preparation the goodness of the original grains is retained, the delicate nut-like flavor is fully brought out and the food is rendered easily digestible. Grape-Nuts contributes to the body dextrine, maltose and other carbohydrates which give energy; iron, which enriches the blood; phosphorus, so necessary to the proper development of teeth and bones; protein, the muscle and body-building element, and the essential vitamin-B. A perfectly-balanced food! As you chew the crunchy Grape-Nuts kernels—as you give healthful exercise to your teeth and gums—you take into your body, ready for almost immediate digestion, a wealth of the most valuable nourishment—nourishment which will make you look better and feel better—which will bring you up where you belong.

"You wouldn't have me get FAT, would you, Doctor?"

"You wouldn't have me get fat." is just one of the many excuses a doctor hears from his patients when he attempts to build up their health and strength by prescribing nourishing food. Another is, "But I can't work on a heavy breakfast!"

In meeting these objections many doctors are recommending Grape-Nuts. For even a small breakfast of Grape-Nuts provides rounded nourishment. Grape-Nuts is rich in the very elements likely to be lacking in modern meals—elements needed by everyone every day. And such a recommendation is welcomed—for Grape-Nuts is one of the most delicious of foods. Its golden brown kernels have a rich, nut-like flavor that is universally liked.

World Favourite of the Millions who eat for Happiness!

GRAPE-NUTS is a breakfast-time favourite the whole world 'round. Millions have found in this wonderful food the key to delicious breakfasts.

Grape-Nuts has a delicate, nut-like flavour. It is crisp—to give healthful exercise to teeth and gums through enjoyable chewing. It is one of the most easily digested of foods. It supplies five essential elements of nutrition. And it costs less than one cent a serving.

FIND OVERWORK NOT BLAMABLE FOR BREAKDOWN

Human Body and Brain Capable of Carrying Heavy Load

All too often when men and women "give out," overwork is blamed.

Overwork is, in most cases, not the cause—as authorities are finding out today more than ever before. Physicians know now that the human body and brain can carry a heavy load of work and responsibility without harm. They see another reason for these numerous cases of "cracking under strain"—wrong food!

Food plays a tremendously important part in daily life. There are certain food elements which the body must have every day to adapt on successfully and happily.

Several years ago a man who had studied foods all his life set about to originate one food which would supply these elements the body needs for energy and vitality. The food is Grape-Nuts.

Although the Mainland entries have not been received a large number is expected in today's mail. Each year since the inception of the big cycling classic Vancouver has been well represented and there is every reason to assume that such will be the case again this year.

GROWING INTEREST

With the growing interest shown in the race each year, arrangements are being made to have Friday's event broadcast through a "mike" with heavy power amplifiers being used. Full details of the event, numbers and names of the riders, officials, prizes, and the positions of the various competitors during the race and all matters of importance dealing with this big event will be announced. The announcements will be heard distinctly at all points along Quadra Street and thereabouts. This is made possible by the courtesy of the Radio-lectric, Limited, who will instal heavy power amplifiers along Quadra Street.

The Colonist Cup, the major trophy in the race which goes to the rider making the fastest time regardless of class, is now on display at the Hillside Pharmacy, Hillside Avenue and Quadra Street.

Other trophies which will be presented at The Colonist bicycle road race, and pictures of some of the riders are on display at Plimley & Ritchie's, View Street.

FRANK RODIA QUALIFIES IN P.N. SECTION

Seattle Pro Wins Right to Represent Pacific Northwest in U.S. Open Golf at New York

GUEST AND BEER TOP IN SOUTH

SEATTLE, June 10.—Stroking his way twice around the par seventy-two Seattle Golf Club course for a card of 73-74—147, three strokes higher than par, chunky Frank Rodia, Broadmoor professional, today earned the right to represent the Pacific Northwest in the national open golf tournament at Mamaroneck, N.Y., late this month. Rodia's nearest trailers were Mortie Dutra, of Tacoma, and Mel Smith, of the Columbia Country Club, of Portland, who compiled 76-75—151, and 77-74—151, respectively. Only six started.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Willie Goggin, San Francisco Olympic Club professional, and Elmer Holland, pro at the Lake Merced Club, San Francisco, qualified today as Northern California's representatives in the national open golf tournament in New York, June 27. Goggin had 76-71—147 and Holland 77-76—153. Fourteen pros played in the sectional qualifying rounds over the Lake Merced course.

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Charley Guest, former professional of the Tam o' Shanter Club, Detroit, and Chet Beer, of the Stockdale Country Club, Bakersfield, qualified for the national open championship tournament in the thirty-six-hole Southern California district test today. Guest, now unattached, shot rounds of 71-73—144 over the Lakeside Country Club course, while Beer had 72-74—146.

ITALY ELIMINATED FROM DAVIS TENNIS

HAMBURG, Germany, June 10.—German's Davis Cup team eliminated Italy in the third round yesterday, three matches to two.

Italy, which won the doubles Saturday, succeeded in getting an even break in the last two singles matches yesterday, but that was not enough to overcome the lead Germany piled up on Thursday by winning both of the first two singles matches.

Yesterday, with the score standing 2 to 1 in Germany's favor, Baron H. L. de Morpurgo, of Italy, evened the count by defeating Dr. Heinde Landmann, 6-4, 6-0, 7-8, but Hans Moldenhauer clinched the series for Germany by defeating George de Stefani, ambidextrous Italian star, 6-3, 3-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Germany's triumph came as a surprise to the experts, who expected the Italians to repeat their feat of last year of reaching the final round of European zone competition. Germany now will meet Czechoslovakia in the semi-final round.

Welshmen Show Splendid Form in Blanking Regina

SASKATOON, June 10.—Dazzling some two thousand spectators with their neat footwork and almost uncanny ball control, the Welsh soccer team swept through to a 7-0 victory over the Regina all-stars here tonight. It was in the first half when they were kicking against a strong wind, that the visitors gave their best display, scoring five goals. They played a short passing game that gave the wind no chance to catch the ball. Robbins was the big goal getter, having no fewer than four to his credit.

CYRIL TOLLEY WINS MATCH IN AMATEUR GOLF

No Upsets Recorded in First Round of English Tourney—Douglas Grant Given Hard Battle

FORMER FRENCH CHAMP BEATEN

SANDWICH, Eng., June 10.—Upsets and record-breaking cards were absent today as one-half of the field in the British amateur golf championship advanced into the second round. Cyril Tolley defeated J. Patterson, 6 and 5, and Andrew Gobert, former French champion, defeated a former cricket star, A. H. Read, 2 up.

Douglas Grant, one of the favorites, was forced to the nineteenth green before he downed Dr. H. Gillies. Among the defeated candidates was Bombardier Billy Wells, former heavyweight boxing champion.

Play developed an anti-climax when Dawson's opponent, A. C. Wightman, scratched at the last moment, advancing the highly-favored Chicago player to the second round without a struggle.

A big gallery at St. George's had awaited Dawson's first appearance in the championship and spectators were scattered all along the first fairway and around the first green when the time came for him to tee off.

After waiting fifteen minutes, John De Forest, of Combe Hill, former boy star, volunteered to give Dawson a practice round and they started out with the big crowd following.

Although Dawson was three down at the ninth hole he came back to finish his practice dual all square.

R. S. Baugh, Jr., Birmingham, Ala., defeated R. Gray, 3 up and 2 to play.

Tolley won his match from Patterson, 6 and 5, starting with a big advantage by taking the first four holes.

Andre Gobert, former French tennis champion, defeated A. H. Read, former English cricket star, 2 up.

Rex Crummack, former hockey star, won from Billy (Bombardier) Wells, former heavyweight pugilist, 2 and 1.

Frank Sweeney, of Los Angeles, entered from Addington, played good golf against Colin Alymer, but delayed his start too long and was defeated 2 up and 1 to play.

Pardee Erdman, Los Angeles, advanced to the second round without a contest when his scheduled opponent, Roland Philipson, defaulted.

Jack Wright Wins First Round Match In Kent Tournament

BECKINGHAM, Kent, June 10.—One Canadian Davis Cup player won his match in the first round of the Kent lawn tennis championships today, and another was defeated. Jack Wright, of Montreal, beat D. Howell, an Anglo-Indian, 6-4, 6-4, and Willard Crocker, Montreal, was beaten by Robbins, South Africa, 6-4, 6-3.

NORM WALLACE WINS COLWOOD CLUB HONORS

Youthful Golfer Defeats R. J. Darcus Three and Two in Final Thirty-Six-Hole Match

LARGE GALLERY FOLLOWS MATCH

NORM WALLACE

Norman Wallace won his second golf title within a week Sunday, when he captured the championship of the Colwood Golf Club with a 3 and 2 victory over R. J. Darcus in the final thirty-six-hole battle. Wallace, on June 3, won the Macaulay Point title. The new champion, who has just turned seventeen, is the youngest member to win the Colwood title. A large gallery followed the match.

Sunday's game did not find either contestant on the peak of his form, and the golf was rather spotty, but featured by some remarkable recovery shots. Wallace had a pair of 85's, while Darcus checked in with an 86 in the morning and an 83 in the afternoon. Wallace's driving was not up to his usual standard, while Darcus had difficulty with his putter.

DARCUS IN LEAD

At the end of the first nine holes Darcus was one up. The first four holes were halved. Wallace won the first with a six to Darcus' seven. Darcus squared the match at the next hole with a five to Wallace's six. Wallace won the seventh, but Darcus took the next two holes for a lead of one up.

The tenth and eleventh were halved, while Wallace won the twelfth to square the match. The champion captured the thirteenth to go one up. The fourteenth was halved in sixes. Wallace took the fifteenth to become two up. Darcus won the sixteenth and seventeenth to square the match, but Wallace won the eighteenth and was one up at the end of the first eighteen.

CAPITALS DOWN DUNCAN 6 TO 1

Norm Forbes Holds Up-Island Ball-tossers to Lone Hit—Breezes Thirteen

Allowing Duncan but one hit, Norm Forbes, star moundsman of the Victoria Capitals, heaved his teammates to a 6-1 victory over Duncan on Sunday in a Vancouver Island Baseball League fixture played Up-Island.

Forbes had his benders working to perfection and sent thirteen of the opposing batsmen back via the strike-out route.

Baldwin, on the mound for Duncan, was as wild as a March hare and walked no less than nine men. In the third stanza he passed three in a row, which forced in a run. He was nicked for eight hits and breezed ten.

Capitals scored four in the third, and one each in the fifth and sixth innings. Duncan checked in their lone tally in the fifth.

"Doc" Webster and Herb Cummins, with two hits apiece out of four trips, led the sluggers.

UPLANDS TAKE LEAD IN MATCH

Local Golfers Defeat Point Grey at Vancouver by Five Points in First Half of Annual Fixture

R. MORRISON SHOOTS SENSATIONAL ROUND

With the strongest team ever to invade Vancouver, Uplands Golf Club gained a five-point lead over Point Grey in the first half of the annual interclub fixture played on the Mainland Sunday. Forty local golfers made the trip, and in the eighteen-hole match ended at the long end of 32½ to 27½ count.

The feature of the day's play proved to be the match between Walter Gravlin and Bob Morrison and Dave Sutherland and C. D. Gowen, which ended in favor of the local pair by a two and one margin. R. Morrison turned in a sensational card for the eighteen, and set a new amateur record for the layout. He was out in 38 and back in 33 for a 71, one stroke better than the previous mark. He had a chance to equal the professional mark when he went to the last hole, needing a three for a 69.

The large gallery following the match received a thrill when Morrison's second on the 456-yard hole landed pin high, but about fifteen feet from the cup. Morrison looked the ground over carefully, but his putt on the sloping carpet overran the hole and he missed the next one.

NEW TROPHY PRESENTED

Following the match the players were the guests of the club at a luncheon. The handsome new silver trophy, donated for annual competition between the clubs by John W. Buttie and J. Burton Forster, was presented to Captain R. L. Challoner by President Phil Waldie of the Point Grey Club. In making the presentation, Mr. Waldie commented on the large turnout which Uplands had made, and stated that his club would attempt to outdo Uplands when the return match is played here in September. Captain Challoner in a brief speech thanked the Point Grey Club for its hospitality on behalf of the Uplands members. Vice-Captain Fred Dillabough and the donors of the trophy spoke briefly.

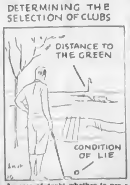
GOLF
AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

DETERMINING THE SELECTION OF CLUBS



In case of doubt whether to use a midiron or mashie, what factors should determine the choice?

Answered by
AL ESPINOSA

The selection of the midiron or the mashie depends on four conditions.

First in the distance to the green. The midiron gives more distance than the mashie. Second, the condition of the lie is important, while the third and fourth factors are the elements and the construction of the hole.

The golfer must take these things into consideration when choosing between these two clubs, remembering that the mashie has more loft than the midiron but usually does not give as much distance.

Bacon's Circuit Swat Gives Sons of Canada 8-6 Win Over Jokers

Canadians' Catcher Poles Out Home Run in Ninth, With Holman On, to Score Deciding Runs in Fast Ball Game

When Jack Bacon, catcher for the Sons of Canada, crashed out a circuit drive to deep right field in the first of the ninth with Bill Holman on third, he gave the Sons of Canada an 8-6 victory over the Jokers in a fast ball game at the Royal Athletic Park last night. It was a tough break for West Bickney, star moundsman of the Jokers, who, although wild at times, was turning in a great performance both on the mound and with his trusty willow.

In the ninth, just before this circuit drive came, Bickney was going along nicely, and after Bill Holman had met one of his high stakes for three bags he worked hard on the next two batters and sent them back to the dugout via the strikeout route. Bacon came to the plate took a couple of balls, and then when the next one came right down the groove he lifted it over the right fielder's head, over the cycle track, over the rail and into the long grass against the fence. While Smith was trying to do the Sherlock Holmes, Bacon was circling the bases and scoring the runs which gave the Canadians one of the sweetest victories of the season.

STICKNEY WILD

First at bat and first to score were the Sons of Canada, when Stickney's first inning wildness resulted in his walking four, sending one of his benchers into Kim Campbell's ribs and giving the Canadians two runs.

Bickney checked in with the Jokers' first run in the second inning.

The Sons added another couple in the third when George Gandy's long single sent C. Campbell and Holman over the home plate.

Each of the eleams scored in the real inning making the count 5-3 in favor of the Sons of Canada.

Stickney came into the limelight in the last of the fifth when his double scored Smith and Donaldson and brought his teammate within one run of their opponents.

Falconer checked in with a run in the sixth only to have the Jokers come back and tie the count in the seventh when Downs and Collins crossed the home plate.

In the eighth each of the teams retired with a goose egg, and then the bang came in the first of the ninth, when, after Holman tripled, Bacon crashed out a homer to give the Canadians a two-run lead which they never relinquished.

Stickney held the Canadians to four hits, including a double, a triple and a home run, while he breezed in.

Parfitt, on the mound for the Sons of Canada, was called for twelve safeties which included three doubles. He fanned four. However, he was accorded good support by his teammates.

Bickney led the sluggers with three safeties, including a double and a five triple to the plate.

Beautiful 11th at Jasper

No. 11, Pyramid—305 yards, Par 4.

FOR the golfer who can carry the liver-shaped bunker in the immediate foreground, this hole is one of the very few which provide a breathing space for those who play the Jasper Park Lodge course, Jasper National Park, Alberta, over which the Canadian and Western Canada amateur championships take place, August 19 to 24. As the Western Canada tournament is conducted with the Dominion title event, lots of competitive golf is assured even for those who have high handicaps. The photograph and the panel show the hole in detail with the yardages to scale below. Tournament play takes place from No. 1 (championship) tee.

CANADIANS TO MEET OAKLANDS

Fast Lacrosse Game Expected at Royal Athletic Park Tonight —Sons Will Make Debut

Bob McInnes' youthful stickhandlers, playing under the name of Oaklands, will be out for their second straight victory in the Victoria and District League when they stack up against the Sons of Canada at the Royal Athletic Park tonight at 6.30 o'clock.

In the exhibition game at Tacoma Sunday, Victoria lost to Seattle by a 9-6 score.

Oaklands team will be as follows: Borde, Cockin, C. Chapman, Alexander, Merriman, Armstrong, Smith, John Taylor, Duckworth, Williams, A. Chapman, McKenzie and Vigers.

LOCAL FIGHTER WILL ATTEMPT TO COME-BACK

Henry Behnsen, Victoria Lightweight, Will Return to Squared Circle—

IS RUGGED AND HEAVY HITTER

The comeback call of the squared circle has resounded in the ears of Henry Behnsen, former Victoria lightweight, and once again he will be seen in action throwing the gloves with the same speed and punching power for which he has been a popular member of Victoria's pugilistic circles. Behnsen's last appearance was at the Armories a few years ago, against some other prize leather thrower than Joe Bayley, former Canadian lightweight champion.

Behnsen's comeback trial, for better or worse, will, it is expected, start next Thursday night at Port Angeles. Information received late last night made this fact known. His return to the game will be eagerly awaited by his many admirers, those who remembered him for his punching ability.

Some of the boners who have kissed the canvas as the result of not knowing just how to duck Behnsen's gloves are Frank Ross, K.O. first round; George Jones, K.O. first round; Harry Anderson, K.O. first round, Harry Terp, K.O. first round and Tex Taylor, K.O. first round.

PIONEER TENNIS STAR DROPS DEAD

NORTH VANCOUVER, June 10.—F. A. MacRae, fifty-one, one of British Columbia's pioneer tennis stars, dropped dead Sunday afternoon, when engaged in a friendly game of doubles at the North Vancouver Tennis Club. Death is thought to have been due to a heart failure.

Some years ago, partnered with Bernie Schwengers, of Victoria, he won many tennis titles, and was one of the foremost exponents of the game in British Columbia.

At the time of his death Mr MacRae was manager of the Granville and Nelson branch of the Bank of Montreal, Vancouver.

SWEEP WINNER QUITS JOB AS FURNACE MAN

Lucky Holder of Trigo's Ticket in Army and Navy Pool Receives Cheque for $90,000

PROVES HIMSELF GOOD SAMARITAN

QUEBEC, June 10.—Arthur Court, Indianapolis, winner of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association sweepstakes, Saturday received a cheque for $89,978 when he handed over his winning ticket on Trigo, the English Derby winner, for which he paid $1 to the secretary of the association. He proved himself a good Samaritan to two blind war veterans, when he generously gave the two men a cheque for $2,000 each. The sightless former soldiers drew from a huge container the ticket which was to make Court a comparatively rich man.

As GOOD as it looks

Not alone good—but so tempting, this Heinz Cooked Spaghetti! And what a glorious flavor Heinz chefs have put into it! It's just as good as it looks!

You'll like the nourishing goodness of the Heinz-made spaghetti—the rich flavor of tomatoes made from garden-fresh fruit—the zestful tang of the special cheese! It's a delightful pick-up for tired appetites—a flavorful standby for robust appetites. Millions of housewives regularly make it a substantial part of their menu.

All Heinz products are of the same high quality . . . whether Heinz Olive Oil, Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup, Heinz Chili Sauce, Heinz Pickles—any of the 57 Varieties. And you'll find their low cost agreeably surprising.

COUNCIL ASKED TO LIMIT FINE

Esquimalt Council Considers Amendment to Road Tax By-Law Asked by Police Commissioners

ENGINEER'S REPORT READ AND ADOPTED

An amendment of the $2 Road Tax By-Law, at the request of the police commissioners, was considered by the Esquimalt Council last night. The council was asked to provide for the imposition of a fine in the case of nonpayment of the tax, the said fine not to exceed $5, and not to be less than $1. In default of payment of the fine, two days' imprisonment was suggested.

The general feeling of the council seemed to be that it would be unwise to do the bands of the magistrate by setting too narrow limits to the size of the fine, and Councillor Cox pointed out that the problem was met in the province of Manitoba by allowing people to do work on the road as payment of the tax. Finally, upon a motion of Councillor Lockley, it was decided to leave the matter over until Reeve Erlick had got into touch with the solicitor and the magistrate and reported their advice to the council.

The report of the engineer regarding public works expenditure for the period ending May 31 was read and adopted. This showed a net expenditure of $14,047.26, and an unexpended balance of $7,952.88.

A communication from the Saanich Council asked for the support of Esquimalt in a matter which is to come up at the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, be given the rights of prohibiting billboards and hoardings in public places. The matter was laid on the table, pending further discussion.

A request from the Army and Navy Veterans that the seats placed in Esquimalt municipality by that organization should be put into a state of repair, was refused, on the grounds that these seats were no longer used for the purposes for which they were originally intended.

DANCE STUDENTS DISPLAY TALENT

Pupils of Violet Fowkes Studio Give Brilliant Exhibition at Playhouse Theatre

A number of pupils of the Violet Fowkes' Studio of the Dance gave a most pleasing exhibition of talents last evening before an audience which filled the Playhouse Theatre. Professional finesse distinguished the movement of the performance, episode succeeding episode with clock-like precision. Each number was also charmingly dressed to suit the character of the dance and a torrent of applause greeted the final ensemble and tableau. Several minutes were required to distribute the bouquets which banked the platform.

As usual the tiniest mite garnered the most plaudits, this being Phoebe Holt. A coy and winsome morsel, topped by a bed of golden curls, she demonstrated, nevertheless, remarkable cleverness in a divertissement entitled "A Precious Little Thing." This was thunderously encored. Of the other pupils who won sensational successes with their solo dances was Maureen Grute, whose "Valse Charmante," to Chopin's music, was a striking display of toe work, supplemented by artistry in interpretation. A dress of mauve, gold and amber, the flounces edged with gold, heightened the effect on an insect spinning dizzily in a patch of sunlight. Georgina Dowdall's clog dance, "Coquette," was prettily performed, the dress here again being a very attractive addition, and Joyce Whitehead's "Bubble Dance" was delightfully lissome. Ethel Holt, denominated to a nicety the title of her dance, "High Kick," and required amidst much applause.

CHARMING DUETS

The programme evoked not a little hysteria as well as Tragic-Comedy. Among the notable examples of this were "The Maid and the Messenger" number, where Berna Waring and Peggy McDougall were the dancers. Their little drama, presented with much archness of expression as well as grace of step, was a pretty episode.

Other charming duets were the toe-tap by Maureen Grute and Helen Peden, a choice little number the Beethoven "Minuet," presented with finesse by Phyllis Pethebridge and Alice Harford, and the staccato-moving Minerva dance given by Betty MacLean and Joyce Finch. Another in the same category by pupils of the school was the Russian Mazurka (music by Meyer). The girls in this dance were Eugenia Doherty, Marjory Thomson, Thelma Richardson and Joyce Dixon.

LIGHT FOOTED DANCERS

The programme opened with a tap dance which brought out some of the talented footed pupils of the school, headed by Miss Fowkes herself. With her in this were Helen Peden, Maureen Grute, Peggy MacDougall, Lenore Fletcher and Beverley Valo "Butterflies," which followed, preserved the fantastic mysterious quality of the Delibes music to which it was danced, the flitting insects being Eleanor Brown, Gladys Harrison, Ethel Gillis, Tootsie Hall, Dorothy Graham, Thelma Pemberthy, Betty MacLean and Joyce Finch. Another in the same category by pupils of the school was the Russian Mazurka (music by Meyer). The girls in this dance were Eugenia Doherty, Marjory Thomson, Thelma Richardson and Joyce Dixon.

quartette of deft-footed dancers, Nancy Ferguson, Phyllis Pethebridge, Lenore Fletcher and Beverley Valo; and "Dance of the Mandolin," given by Joyce Finch, Adeline Grant and Helen Peden, and Strauss' "Blue Danube" added classical elements to the fine feats of the programme. Beverley Valo, Helen Peden, Peggy MacDougall, Adeline Grant and Joyce Finch being the dancers in the latter.

RIVAL FAVORITES

It would be difficult to say whether the "Sailors' Hornpipe," danced by Gwen Dewar, Maryan Peterson, Betty Weiner and Gladys Acreman, or the "Sword Dance," danced by Maryan Peterson, Gwen Dewar, Betty Weiner, Gladys Acreman and Sadie Gemmell was the favorite among the ensemble numbers of the programme. Both were surprisingly dexterous, tests alike of technique and endurance. Miss Nancy Ferguson, who is instructor of the Highland dancing classes at the studio, also responsible for the skilled little group which gave the Highland Fling and Reel o' Tullach, Maryan Peterson, Gwen Dewar, Betty Webber, Gladys Acreman, Sadie Gemmell, Jean Marsh, Adele Murdoch and Jean Wallis.

Humor was introduced to the second part of the programme by Miss Ferguson and Phyllis Pethebridge in their comic boxing clog, a patter dance by Cecily Brown and Jewell Pettingell in "The Artist and the Bathing Girl," and by Ray Ditchburn and Fred Patton, expert patter dancers. The acrobatic element was supplied by six or seven sinuous girls, Ethel Holt, Eugenia Doherty, Cecily Brown, Audrey Morrison, Maureen Grute, Helen Peden and Thelma Pomeroy. The programme closed with an ensemble and tableaux employing all the pupils.

Both Miss Fowkes and Miss Ferguson were seen to great advantage in solo numbers, the former in a brilliantly danced tango, with "Ray Ditchburn as partner, the latter in a fiery Spanish dance interpreted with intensity.

Presbyterian Commission Is Continued

OTTAWA, June 10—The commission for the reception of ministers into the Presbyterian Church in Canada, to be continued. This was decided at today's sederunt of the fifty-fifth General Assembly. An effort was made to have the commission abolished and the power to accept ministers from other churches again placed in the assembly. The majority of the members present contended that an emergency still exists, with the result that the commission is to remain. Rev. T. Wardlaw Taylor, of St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B., moved abolition of the minister's reception commission. He stated all ministers accepted into the church from other churches should come before the assembly.

Rev. Dr. A. B. Grant, of Toronto, contended that the emergency still exists and that the commission be continued. He did not believe that it was fair to keep congregations waiting for a minister until the assembly meets. When the vote was taken the assembly decided by a very large majority to continue the commission.

MANITOBA FARM TRAGEDY SCENE

Hired Man Kills Employer's Wife and Son and Then Commits Suicide

WINNIPEG, June 10—Mrs. Ruth Jones and her eleven-year-old son were shot and killed today by Karl Werseuk, hired man, on a farm near Dropmore, Man. Immediately afterwards, it is said, Werseuk killed himself.

Dr. J. J. Gillnosley, coroner for the Russell district, is handling the case. Dropmore is located twenty-four miles north of Russell, a town in the central part of Southern Manitoba.

According to reports of the tragedy, Abraham Jones, proprietor of the farm, had ordered the hired man to his work shortly after breakfast. Betting a gun, it is stated, Werseuk fired several times at Jones, who hastened away to call the police.

On the return of Jones it was found his wife and son had been slain by the workman, whose body was recovered nearby, where he had committed suicide. No motive for the double killing and subsequent suicide was advanced.

Maud—"Do you know, Bessie, Mr. Brainbam paid me a great compliment last night?"

Bessie—"No. What did he say?"

Maud—"He said I was among the prettiest girls at the party."

Bessie—"Yes. I noticed you were among them!"

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

—By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM—

CHAPTER VII

Whatever the object of his visit, the inspector evidently intended to give me no time to prepare for it, for almost simultaneously he entered the room. Rachel jumped from her chair and fled, throwing a kiss to me from the door. Johnson followed her with a glance full of stately disapproval.

"Take a chair, please," I invited. "What can I do for you?"

The inspector accepted my invitation, but declined the cigarette I offered. He was in plain clothes, a man of medium height, with exceptionally full eyebrows that gave him at times a rather sleepy expression. His voice was unexpectedly pleasant, his speech precise and well-balanced. The impression he produced upon me was curiously favorable, although at the same time I felt instinctively the need for great circumspection.

"You have gathered from my card, Major," he said, "that I am in the detective service at Scotland Yard. You will not object if I ask a few questions concerning recent happenings?"

"Go ahead," I invited. "I have been through it all with the Essex police, but you can have it all over again if you want to."

"You occupy some post in the household here, I believe. May I ask what it is?"

"Well, I am not quite sure that I know myself," I confessed. "We never put it into actual words. A sort of secretary, I should imagine."

"Secretary?" my companion repeated in his soft, pleasant voice, which at times was almost a drawl. "Typing letters, and that sort of thing?"

"Nothing of that sort at all," I assured him. "To tell you the truth, I have only been here for ten days, and we've been rather upset most of the time, as you doubtless know. I expect my duties will be more clearly defined later on. Up till now life seems to have been a hotchpotch of scraps and inquests and police court proceedings."

"You took rather prominent part in the defence of the household the other night, Mr. Hews speaks very warmly of your services."

"I did my bit, naturally."

My visitor reflected for a few minutes.

"I should perhaps tell you, Major Owston, he went on, "that my visit is made at the instigation of the Chief Commissioner, who is particularly interested in recent events here. I want to suggest to you that in your own interests, as well as in the interests of the law, you are to be quite frank with me."

"Why not?" I rejoined. "Ask me anything you want to, by all means."

"Capital! I am sure that you have nothing to conceal, and a little extra frankness on your part perhaps help us to solve certain curious problems that have arisen. To begin with, hasn't it struck you that your engagement here is of a very singular nature?"

I hesitated.

"To tell you the truth," I confided, "even if that idea has sometimes cropped up in my mind, I haven't allowed myself to think of it. I've been out of a job for nearly two years. Mr. Martin Hews offered me a position in the household and promised to explain the nature of my duties more clearly later on. A man who has been rescued from starvation, or from borrowing from his friends—which is a trifle worse—isn't very particular what he does so long as it's on the level. When this scrap came along, I was only too thankful to be of any assistance."

The inspector nodded sympathetically.

"Very natural—very natural indeed, Bill," he went on. "It seems unreasonable, Major, that you shouldn't have asked yourself, 'What manner of a job is this I'm taking on? What am I expected to do to earn my money?'

"Under ordinary circumstances, I dare say you're right," I agreed, "but you must remember that first of all I was too grateful to get any sort of job at all to worry much about what my duties would be, and secondly, this scrap has disorganized the whole household and driven everything else out of my thoughts. I imagine that presently Mr. Hews will take me a little further into his confidence. Then I shall have a clearer idea of what he expects from me."

"Quite reasonable," my questioner admitted. "Quite reasonable. You were never in the Intelligence Department yourself, were you, during the war?"

"Any staff appointment of any sort, any staff appointment of any sort. My soldiering was nearly all regimental work."

"Nevertheless," the inspector continued, "Captain Joyce always spoke of you—your name cropped up often in our conversation—as a person of common sense. I put it to you, as they say in the law courts, that you must have been struck by certain mysterious things concerning this household."

"In a sense, of course, that is true," I agreed. "On the other hand, a soldier gets into the habit of minding his own business. If I see things I don't understand, I don't worry about them.

"This—er—network of secret passages, doors that only open by electricity and searchlights that are played around the countryside?"

I shrugged my shoulders.

"Mr. Martin Hews himself," I pointed out, "is a very exceptional person. He is a cripple and he has here an immensely valuable collection of curios. I should take it for granted that he was justified in any means to protect himself."

"But all these contrivances," my visitor persisted gently in his silky, pleasant voice. "are really not so much use after all, as a means of protection. They failed him, for instance, the other night.

"That was because the whole show was given away by a member of the household who was in league with the burglars," I pointed out—"Miles, the butler, the fellow who got shot."

"Quite true. Nevertheless, I understand that the whole system is being reinstalled and a successor to the unfortunate electrician who was murdered already appointed. You should like to ask you this question, Major. Remember that I am speaking on behalf of the custodians of the law of the country, and that you, too, are one of the King's servants. I ask you, has it never occurred to you that there is something mysterious about this whole house? I suggest that there might be something going on here that is not quite in accordance with the law."

"There are possibilities of every sort, of course," I acknowledged. "I am not of an imaginative turn of mind, however, and so far as I have thought about the matter at all, I have remembered that Mr. Hews, like a great many deformed people, is probably of a freakish turn of mind. These devices appeal to him and he is rich enough to install them if he wishes. Nothing in connection with them has come under my notice could in any way be considered an offence against the law."

"Five footmen," my visitor murmured.

"I don't see anything in that at all," I declared. "There is surely no reason why a wealthy man, who can perfectly well afford it, shouldn't keep a few extra servants to help him guard his treasures."

The inspector listened to me without change of countenance. I was telling the truth, but I had no idea whether he believed me or not.

"There is a young lady, at present an inmate of the household, who was mentioned as being one of the causes of the attack. Why does Mr. Hews protect her?" he inquired.

"She was, as I dare say you know, the companion of Donkin, the leader of the rival gang of hooligans, until a few days ago."

"Mr. Hews is upstairs," I replied. "Why not ask him such a question for yourself? He has not taken me into his confidence."

"But it was you," my vis-a-vis persisted softly, "who asked Donkin to escape. You knew, I presume, that he was a criminal?"

"I knew nothing about it at all," I insisted. "I hadn't been in this houses more than an hour when Donkin arrived. I saw him into a motor boat. That was all."

"Aiding and abetting a criminal to escape!"

"How was I to know that he was a criminal?"

"You were merely an agent, without a doubt," the inspector allowed. "But Mr. Martin Hews knew all about it. I now one is driven to ask oneself, why did a gentleman in Mr. Martin Hews' position take such an interest in Jim Donkin as to assist him to escape from justice and give shelter to his lady companion?"

"From what I heard of the conversation, inspector," I told him—"a little malicious, I confess—I gathered that it was Joseph from whom Donkin was anxious to escape. He didn't expect the police for about a week."

"Touche!" my visitor admitted with a smile. "But you must remember those fellows naturally know more about one another's movements than we did. I am afraid I am wearying you a little, Major. I am sorry, but we are up against a very ugly problem at Scotland Yard, and somehow or other it has to be solved. We want Joseph—we want him very badly."

"You can't want him out of the way any worse than Mr. Martin Hews does," I confided.

"That statement of yours, Major," the inspector declared, stretching out his hand for his hat, "opens up the way for a suggestion on my part. I propose that we should work together. You are still a soldier of the King, and I am the representative of the law. We are equally concerned in the war against crime. And believe me," he added, rising to his feet, and suddenly looking at me with wide-open eyes which I discovered to be unexpectedly blue and bright, "Joseph and his men will be discovered in time, discovered and brought to Justice. Pay me a visit some time at Scotland Yard, I will show you some of the statistics. It is an amazing thing how seldom a criminal in the long run escapes. The law wins. Major Owston. Try to bear that in mind and let us have that call from you at Scotland Yard whenever you feel inclined."

We shook hands. The fellow had an indescribably attractive manner, and somehow or other, although his questions embarrassed me all the time, I felt that it was impossible to dislike him. I had a grim foreboding that before long I might find myself between two stools.

The yellow telephone unlike shortly after tha departure, and in obedience to its summons, I mounted to the third floor and presented myself in the library. Martin Hews motioned me to the chair by his side, sometimes occupied by his niece.

"You are promoted," he said. "The chair of death—as somebody once called it—is no longer for you. I am beginning to be convinced that I was right about you, as I usually am. A brave man, dogged of purpose, not over-intelligent, but with sufficient brains to adapt himself to a difficult situation. A trifle expansive with our friend, Inspector Bloor, perhaps, but you were taken by surprise. On the whole I liked your manner. I approved of your reticence. Bloor was disappointed, I think."

"You overheard then?"

"Naturally. It was very important that I should overhear. I was within a few feet of you on the other side of the waincoating. It interests me very much to learn that Scotland Yard is becoming suspicious about my house and my manner of living."

My momentary annoyance vanished. This was, after all, part of the game.

"It is twenty years, Caxston," my employer reflected, "since I first committed an offence against the statutory laws. I think I may safely say that until this time I have never even been suspected. I can see, however, that from now on those things will become more difficult. This may affect the arrangement between us. From tomorrow you will find yourself in possession of chambers in town, where you will spend the greater part of your time. The work you will have to do there will explain itself as the hour for action arrives, but its main object will be concerned with the determination to which I have come during the last few days. These two gangs of criminals—Donkin's and Joseph's—have at times in the past been of great assistance to me. From henceforward it is finished with them. It is too dangerous a game for anyone who has attracted the attention, however indirectly, of Scotland Yard. Donkin's has broken up naturally with the flight of its chief. Joseph's I shall destroy. Afterwards I shall conduct all my operations myself. I have no longer any need of either of my disreputable allies."

There was the usual signal to which apparently he replied favorably for a moment later the door opened and Beatrice Estcourt came into the room. She did not even glance at me. She stood before her uncle with her fingers upon the table.

"There is a serious matter to speak of," she told him.

I took a step toward the door, but he checked me promptly

"Presage," he directed.

"Here is a telephone message that came from a call office in Piccadilly."

Martin Hews took the slip of paper in his hand and he read it aloud, partly. I believe, for my edification.

"A car will wait at Bressesley Station until ten o'clock tonight. If it returns empty, there will be more trouble."

ON EIGHT GREAT MOTOR CARS

FISHER BODY* BRINGS YOU STYLE

AND VALUE-LEADERSHIP

IN EVERY PRICE CLASS

In each of these eight cars, superior performance and mechanical excellence are combined with body style and value which Fisher Body and only Fisher Body can give. ¶ The body value which General Motors cars with Body by Fisher gives is so great that for anything comparable one must go to cars several hundreds of dollars higher in price. ¶ This value is apparent. Every Fisher Body, even at first glance, conveys a conviction of greater value and quality which becomes the more vivid and impressive, the closer the inspection. This value is revealed to any motor car buyer in the finer, richer, obviously more expensive upholstery cloth; in the better, more durable grade of carpeting; in the genuine selected plate glass; in the painstaking craftsmanship which creates perfection of finish both inside and outside; in the artistry of the appointments and in the smooth, lustrous, lasting finish which is applied to the exterior of every Fisher Body. It is honest value through and through—value which is present in the hidden parts of the frame work and the roof—value which accounts for the celebrated staunchness and long life of every Body by Fisher. ¶ The eight cars which bring you this finer style and greater value of Fisher Bodyare exceptionally fine cars in the way they perform and in the satisfaction they afford. ¶ You will serve your own interests well by selecting your next car from among this group, the names of which are listed above, all with Body by Fisher.

DONALDSON TO ALTER SERVICE

Addition of Two New Vessels Will Enable Scotch Firms to Provide Fortnightly Calls Here

FIRST SHIP IS DUE LATE AUGUST

The addition of two new carriers to the Donaldson Line fleet, operated between Victoria and the United Kingdom, will enable the line to give a fortnightly service starting late in August, according to Nisbet Consolidated, Limited, local agents.

Of the new ships, the first arriving will be called the Oregaila. Captain R. Bell, master of the Pastheria, has been made commander, and will bring her out on her maiden voyage.

The Oregaila and the second new carrier, as yet unnamed, are more than the usual "reefer," in as much as they have special compartments of 10,000 cubic feet each for fresh egg shipments. Both ships will be of 9,000 tons deadweight, with ordinary cold storage capacity of 75,000 cubic feet. They will measure 425 feet over all, with a beam of 57.5 feet and a cruising speed of fourteen knots.

FINE NOT RETURNED

In connection with the landing of Mrs H. Jolin from Oreas Island at Oak Bay on Friday, customs officials state that they had nothing to do with the imposition of the $40 fine, which Mr. B. Ruff, acting immigration agent describes as a "deposit." Mr. C. K. Larsen, owner of the launch, has not received his money back, and will not until the matter is passed upon by Ottawa, according to Mr Ruff.

Log Booms Across Harbor Prevent Marguerite From Docking

ARRIVING off the old chemical works site at 2.25 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the British Columbia Coast Steamship Service's ship Princess Marguerite was prevented from reaching the Belleville Street docks by log booms stretching across the harbor mouth.

Her headway was completely blocked by thousands of logs and a tug with scows, all involved in a tangle which took until nearly 4.30 o'clock to straighten out. The Marguerite reversed her engines and backed out of the harbor, tying up at Hulme Piers at 3.20. She sailed for Seattle from the Outer Wharf at 4.50.

During the past two years the number of log booms tied up between the old chemical works wharf and the industrial reserve has been rapidly increasing and at various times the width of the ship channel left has been scarcely wide enough for two vessels to pass at the same time. Captain George Kirkendale, harbor master, shipping master and port warden, is reported to be investigating the situation in the interests of keeping the harbor entrance clear of obstructions.

Large Engine for Seattle-Chicago Route

A TUG on the reins of this "iron horse" and it will pick up a 1,000-ton passenger train without effort. The locomotive is one of the new fleet that will handle the Great Northern's new fast train, the Oriental Bullet, which will run into service early in June 10, when it will be dropped out of the running time between Seattle, Portland and Chicago. The tremendous reserve power of this locomotive enables it to maintain a fast and uniform speed up and down. With a tender holding 15,000 gallons of water and 5,000 gallons of oil, the locomotive can be run for hours at a time without stopping for water or fuel. It measures 105 feet from tip of pilot to end of tender and weighs 370 tons.

New Automobile Ferry to Sydney in Run Saturday—Eighth From Mainland

Captain C D. Nerustad, manager of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service, will return from Alaska in time for the opening of the company's new ferry service from Steveston to Sidney, to be performed by the Motor Princess. The other routes are Victoria-Edmonds, Sidney-Anacortes, Sidney-Bellingham, and Victoria-Port Angeles.

The expansion of the automobile ferry business has been the most remarkable of the transportation problems incidental to the communication between the Island and Mainland.

The new service will become operative on Saturday.

ROAD WORK IS CONTEMPLATED

Further Improvements on Island Highway Are Proposed Later In Season

The work of the Department of Public Works on the Island highways is being carried on with all the expedition possible, in order to have the roads in first class shape for the coming of the tourist trade. It will not be possible to carry out all the needed improvements before that time, but in certain parts where attention is imperative advantage will be taken when the rush of the tourist season is over to carry out improvements.

On the outer side of the Malahat there are one or two places that will require attention under this heading at as early a date as possible after the rush is over.

One of these is south of Water Trough Hill on the Island Highway which in some places has rather dangerous curves jutting out. These will be attended to, and considerable work will be done to improve the situation. The rock so removed will be utilized in widening the road at the Mill Bay curb. It will be used in making a new face seawards at that point.

On the Malahat there has been a lot of work already completed in the matter of giving fresh surfacing to the road for the Summer. This has been practically completed on the Malahat proper, but there is still required three considerable spurs in the widening of certain parts which will be carried along during the Summer, but without interfering with the traffic.

At the end of the road in the Goldstream section the primary coat on the newly constructed road has been applied. Later in the season there will be additional bitumen coating applied.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

BREATH DEEPLY TO THINK CLEARLY

One may live weeks without food, days without water, but barely a few minutes if the air supply is shut off. Everyone from the babe to his centenarian depends upon a steady supply of air for the maintenance of life. It has been determined by a series of scientific experiments that after a person has become asphyxiated the first tissues in the body to die are those of the brain and nervous system. Other parts of the body may exist for a comparatively long time without additional oxygen, but the brain, being of such delicate structure, must have a constantly renewed supply.

Anyone who finds his brain becoming sluggish and dull will undoubtedly be able to increase his mental output merely by learning to breathe correctly. As long as life lasts, poisonous carbon dioxide is being constantly discharged through the lungs, and the vital oxygen of the atmosphere is taken into the body, thereby furnishing the system with this precious element to give vitality and assist in correcting metabolism.

A plentiful supply of oxygen in the blood is important, not only to supply the requirements of the body but to act as a protective agent against many toxins which, unless oxidized, might cause serious illness or death. Most of us do not breathe deeply enough and it is a distinct task for us to breathe more deeply than we do unconsciously.

It does not take much breathing to sustain life, but if we want to be radiating examples of vitality we must learn to develop our breathing apparatus to an extraordinary degree. Learn diaphragmatic control as taught to singers. Whether you ever intend to sing a note or not, this development of your breathing apparatus will be of service to you regardless of your station in life.

It is not as much value to you to practice deep breathing exercises every few days when you think about it, or when a lecture or an article reminds you of breathing deeply, as it is to build this into your system as a habit which you will do unconsciously every minute of the day and night.

After you have developed your breathing muscles, you will find that your lungs are working in measured rhythm and the normal inhalation of eighteen per minute is furnished you with twice as much oxygen as you had previously been obtaining, and the increased exhalation will cleanse your system of twice the amount of poisonous gases.

While you are practicing your constitutional walks each day, practice breathing to the capacity of your lungs, in and out every so many steps. It is not necessary to strain yourself. After you get the knack of inhaling you will find that it is very easy, and you will be rewarded with increased vitality and a vitality which you have never before experienced.

The benefits from well regulated breathing exercises are often startling. Follow the exercises for building the muscles of your chest and diaphragm and I am sure you will find them exceedingly helpful in the cultivation of more permanent health and happiness.

HOMES IN VICTORIA, Affecting PROPERTY VALUES in Victoria, Mill Bay, Cobble Hill and Duncan

Any Industry Established With the Idea of Holding Tourists Three Days Longer on the South End of the Island Will Be a Boon to Victoria

Expenditures Made by Tourists in Victoria Last Year Are Estimated at $3,700,000, Without Taking Into Account the Properties Sold to Visitors.

AFTER THEIR SOJOURN IN VICTORIA TOURISTS NATURALLY ASK—WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

THE SANDY BEACH INN AND GOLF LINKS, LTD.

Undertaking will assist in holding tourists on the south end of the Island because the support to the visitor will not only be equal to that of any mountain resort, but greater, if we are to judge from the opinions expressed by a number of people.

THERE ARE FEW LOCALITIES IN BRITISH COLUMBIA WHERE THE GUEST CAN FIND SO MANY DIVERSIONS

1.—Fishing in Saanich Arm for salmon and grilse—the fish run a few hundred yards off the beach. So many of our visitors have never fished, and one successful day would hold the visitor a week and bring him back again. If the visitor is a fly fisherman, he visits the company's lakes near the Summit of the Malahat, which were partially stocked three years ago, and which will be kept well supplied with Kootenay trout.

2.—Horse-back riding provides an easy start to the crest, which is but 1,300 feet at this point, with a view of the whole of the Saanich Inlet, Shawnigan Lake, and a number of other small lakes; the Islands in the Gulf; the Straits; and the Mountain Ranges. He can also ride from this point to Mill Bay, Cobble Hill and Duncan.

3.—If he is fond of hiking, the visitor may roam all day over the company's property, 800 acres in extent, which is a natural amphitheatre, flanked by mountains, running over streams, natural pools, cascades and luxuriant growth. There are few more beautiful spots.

4.—Those who are fond of bathing may enjoy a dip in either the sea or lake, both of which are warm in Summer; in fact, Sandy Beach is believed to have the warmest water around Victoria. The Beach, with its silver sand, is half a mile in extent, and turns out for two or three hundred yards. It is perfectly safe for the children.

5.—Facilities for playing tennis; motor boating; sailing, in protected waters, will be available.

6.—Golf links will be constructed when money is available for this purpose.

7.—The shops in Victoria can be reached in an hour by ferry or over the Malahat Drive.

The architect for the Inn is Mr. F. M. Rattenbury, who drew the plans for the Crystal Garden, Parliament Buildings, etc.

The opinion given to the Board of Directors by experienced men is that the hotel (thirty rooms) will be full for the whole of the Summer.

And that it should prove a financial success. All figures in regard to costs and revenues were secured and checked by those who are managing or have managed hotels. The property has also been inspected and approved, and endorsation given to the proposition.

The prospectus shows $25,278.00 net profits after allowing for 100% vacancies for three months, 80% for three months, 60% for two months, 33% for two months, and 10% for two months and costs for the full year.

The first charge against these net earnings is the Preferred Dividend of $7,000, so that dividend requirements from the operation of the Hotel alone should be covered at least twice, but, in addition, we have secured an added source of revenue.

The Malahat Park, Limited, owns 140 acres in addition to the 800 acres turned over to the Hotel Company. Its waterfront lots have the same sandy beach. These lots are selling steadily.

A Summer House located at Sandy Beach, with the facilities of the Inn, as well as tennis, sailing, boating and riding, cannot be duplicated. (The prices are to be advanced over 50% when the Inn is completed, as more in keeping with values elsewhere and with prices Americans would be willing to pay.)

The money secured from the sale of the property is to be turned over to the Hotel Company and goes to the payment of the Preferred Stock dividends, the retirement of the Preferred Stock, or to improvements or enlargement of the hotel.

The Preferred Stock is therefore doubly secured.

The public is asked to subscribe to units of

One $10 7% Preferred Stock of Sandy Beach & Golf Links, Ltd., and Ten Shares of Common Stock of Malahat Park, Ltd., at a price of $10 per unit.

$100,000 is to be secured before any money is turned over to the Company, but you will be allowed 7% on the money advanced until it is turned over to the Company or refunded to you. This project is conceded to be in the interests of all citizens. It will assist in keeping the tourists on the south end of the Island. The investors will earn 7% from the Preferred Stock and whatever dividends are paid on the Common Stock. Every shareholder will have a vote.

A committee, to assist the directors, has been appointed from the undersigned. Their duties extend to the safeguarding of the interests of the preferred shareholders.

The management of the Inn has had a number of years' experience in handling guests who came to our city, and in hotel management. It will be replaced by the best obtainable if found not efficient or economical.

If as a citizen you can see your way to subscribing from $10 to $5,000, your prompt action will be appreciated.

TIGHTENING OF CREDIT AT N.Y. HALTS TRADING

Volume of Business Dwindles on Exchange to Lowest Figure Since Middle of Last August

SALES AGGREGATE 2,201,230 SHARES

NEW YORK, June 10.—A tightening of credit, with the approach of the midmonth settlement period, discovered activity on the stock market today, and prices were inclined to sag. The volume of trading dwindled to the lowest level for a full day since the middle of last August, sales totaled only 2,201,230 shares.

Although call money has been much more plentiful this month than had been expected, the rate amounted to 8 per cent today for the first time in more than three weeks.

Commonwealth Power provided about the only excitement of the session, running up 28 points to 208, then dropping to 198 at the close. Federal Light and Traction was bid up about 2 points to a new top above 100, but elsewhere in the utility group profit-taking was in evidence.

Other strong points included National Distilleries issues and United States Industrial Alcohol, General Asphalt, Fleishmann and Allis-Chalmers, American Banknote, Burroughs, Lambert and Warrant Bros. Coppers were generally firmer.

Motors were generally heavy with the exception of Hudson, which mounted more than a point. Packard dropped 4 points and General Motors closed off 1 1-2 points.

United States Steel, Allied Chemical, Curtiss, I.T., National Biscuit and Woolworth losing from 2 to 0 points.

Rails were heavy, several issues losing a point or two.

Foreign exchanges were dull and fairly steady, although the Italian lira reached a new low for the year, 5.22 0-8. Sterling held at $4.84 7-8.

The long-suffering bond market had a relapse today and not only did the price averages show the first decline of the month, but the volume of trading was the lowest of the year.

The slump was due not to liquidation but to complete lack of interest.

WHEAT MARKET HAS HEAVY DAY

PRICES BREAK SHARPLY AFTER OPENING UNCHANGED AT WINNIPEG

Export Business Over Week-End Small—U.S. Government Report Considered Bearish

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, June 10.—The wheat market was very heavy today and, after opening unchanged, prices broke more than 3c. Showers over considerable area of Western Canada during the week-end and weakness in the Chicago market brought about general liquidation by longs, which found very poor buying support, the latter being of a local character on the scale down.

Export business was small over the week-end. The showers in Western Canada were mostly light, but they were fairly general in the southern areas of the three provinces, where the moisture is needed the least. The dry situation will not be changed to any extent, but now that the weather has broken, further precipitation is to be expected. The United States Government report was construed as moderately bearish. There was a very indifferent demand for cash wheat locally, and spreads were unchanged to 1-2 lower.

Millers report flour trade quiet, both at home and abroad. Scattered showers reported from Argentina, which will relieve the situation temporarily. The Canadian visible decreased about 5,000,000 bushels.

Coarse Grains: Markets were all sharply lower, declining in sympathy with the weakness in wheat and corn, combined with a poor buying power with consumptive demand at a standstill, and no export business.

Flax: No feature, lower in sympathy with the general weakness.

Whitney Letter

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, June 10.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, today says: Activity has dwindled at the opening of the week, and there is some promise that lack of activity will be the dominating characteristic of the market in the next few days when preparations are being made for both income tax installments and midmonth disbursements. We are, of course, going to witness a flurry in the call money market, but neither the lack of activity nor the slightly higher rate for call money which will be recorded constitute valid reasons for disposing of stocks, and consequently advantage should be taken of the moderate decline to buy those stocks which have been previously recommended here. A dull market is always a market for shorts to be suspicious of.

It is evident despite the efforts which are being made to mark some parts of the industrial group lower, that no liquidation is making its appearance, and consequently the continual picking at the market which represents the activity of those working for lower prices is accomplishing nothing other than an enlargement of the short interest under cover of dull and irregular market in the various parts of the oil, rail and utility groups. The market is by no means a unit but is sufficient of a unit in the three groups mentioned above to warrant the prediction that subject to irregularity for a few days the trend and line of least resistance is toward higher prices.

Continue the purchase of Atlantic Refining, particularly when available under 70, as a new record is in the making, discounting the appearance of the second quarter report, which should show current earnings running at a rate of moderately better than $10 per share. Continue the purchase of Pan-American, particularly when under 65, and of Standard Oil of New Jersey under 60.

In the rail group continue to favor New Haven, which is scheduled for a $6 dividend basis in all likelihood at the next meeting of directors, Erie, New York Central and Missouri Pacific.

In the utilities, would not deviate from the previously recommended issues, which were Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, and Electric Power & Light. Learn that Commercial Solvents is to be the subject of a ten for one split-up. Alcohol stocks continue to give an exceptionally good performance so attention is again directed to National Distillers while it is available at and below 50.

General Asphalt has recorded a new top for the year and has for an objective a price close to 100. Continue the purchase of Continental Baking A, under 80, Fleischmann under 82, and Anaconda Copper under 106 is recommended.

ANOTHER GAIN MADE BY AJAX

IS LEADER IN OTHERWISE DULL MARKET AT TORONTO

Newbec Is Mines Feature for the Day's Trading—Some Oil Leaders Soften a Shade

(Stobie, Forlong & Co.)

TORONTO, June 10.—Ajax made another big gain in today's trading, leading an otherwise dull market. The stock advanced with a big turnover to close at $1.37, a net gain of 14 cents.

Newbec was the mines feature, jumping to 74 cents, up 9 points on Saturday's close before receding 2 points.

Of the higher-priced issues, Noranda traded in the $52.25 range and closed at this figure. International Nickel was up 15 at the close at $47.50.

Sherritt-Gordon had considerable activity and lost 10 points to $7.20. Sudbury Basin was off 15 to $8.25.

Teck Hughes had early strength at $8.40 but dropped to a 5-point loss, closing at $8.10. Falconbridge Nickel, a light trader, made 50 cents to $13.00.

Of the lower-priced issues, Kootenay Florence had a flurry to 17 cents before closing at 10 cents, a net gain of 2 points. Mandy was up 9 points at the close, while Malartic and Wright Hargreaves were strong. Big Missouri, Amulet, Abana and Howey were a shade off.

In oils, C & E lost 60 cents to $10.40, after a mid-session selling that lowered the stock to $10.00.

Home, Southwest Petroleum and Associated were a shade softer, while A.P.C. and Wainwell were firm to strong.

Mining News

(H. E. Hunnings & Co., Ltd.)

With the roadbed complete, laying of steel on the forty-two-mile railway branch, Chanberry Portage to Cold Lake, to serve Sherritt-Gordon, has started and by the end of August the job should be near completion. Sherritt will take in its 1,500-ton mill.

No news, official or otherwise, has come out to explain Friday's jump in Newbec, and opinion is that buying was in anticipation of further good news from the 250-foot level. Newbec has possibilities of substantial nature. Ore so far found is excellent grade and other such plums as those opened may be found and would quickly put the operation in potential mine class. For the present, says one well posted engineer, shares seem selling for all they are worth, but it is hard to gauge their speculative value.

New ore body opened on Grandview, about 500 feet from present workings. Seven diamond drill holes cut ore which in most cases give better values than original body. When this body is sufficiently developed, company anticipates doubling mill capacity, which is now 250 tons daily.

Granada's spectacular developments of recent date can be sized up as follows: At 625 level, 150-foot ore shoot, values $30 over stoping width, 500 level, 500-foot shoot of $10 ore or better, while in east end a width of fourteen feet of ore carries three feet that is high grade. This east drive is a little to south of porphyry, and, as works move east, the outlook improves.

Amity plans to ship two cars of ore to Noranda to get bulk assay from larger body, and ore will not be sorted. On 600-foot horizon ore opened fifty to sixty feet and feeling grows that it is new body, and that downward extension of upper level shoot is yet to be reached. Diamond drilling will be done laterally and vertically.

OILS

It may be Monday before Imperial Oil officials will feel free to make statement as to size of Home No. 2. Our field man says the well is big. Imperial officials say the same, while independent reports to different Toronto groups say well is much bigger than Home No. 1 at its initial stage. No. 1 came in with 600 barrels and has steadily increased to 900. One house had a wire yesterday that new well was 850 barrels, but this is only an estimate.

Macleod Oil officials estimate No. 4 production at 100 barrels with gas flow of 10,000,000 feet. May go deeper later on. Well was making seventy-five barrels before strike. Present production not full recovery. Estimate No. 2 making 150 barrels with 12,000,000 feet flow.

Macleod No. 1 is making about fifty barrels, giving company present estimated total of 300 barrels daily.

Southwest Petroleum is now drilling at 3,940 feet, making 212 feet last week. Should be within about 150 feet of lime, and is running true to form so far.

Advance No. 5 is running 8½-inch casing at 3,465 feet.

Foothills No. 4 is now past the 2,000-foot mark.

Good speed is being made at Home No. 4, now at 3,757 feet.

Wall Street Journal

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, June 10.—Advance indications of the threatened stringency were seen in a rise in the call money rate to 8 per cent in the late afternoon after the demand charge had held at 7 per cent through the first hour. This stiffening imported a quicker pace to a selling movement which had proceeded in desultory fashion the greater part of the day.

Pressure was concentrated mostly in the leading stocks of the industrial department. Steel, American Can, General Electric and other pivotal issues dropped back to levels which wiped out a good part of their recent rallies.

Copper stocks gave ground after an early burst of strength, which was given impetus by further indications over the week-end that the repatriations agreement had set in motion substantial buying of the metal for foreign account.

Motor shares turned reactionary with Packard particularly heavy due to selling instigated by Wright Aeronautical's plans to compete in the Diesel engine field for aviation purposes.

Utilities resisted the decline better than the general run of stocks. Commonwealth Power staged a sensational recovery and American Water Works reached a new record high. While trading in the main body of stocks became extremely dull as the downward movement proceeded, little recovery developed before the close.

There are several questions to be asked to determine land values when purchasing real estate.

Ask yourself these questions when you are considering the purchase of a piece of real estate:

1. What is the exchange value?
(a) What have similar properties sold for in that neighborhood?
(b) Is the price asked anticipating the future value?
2. Are there any special features affecting it?
(a) If it is higher than the street level is that a detriment or a benefit?
(b) Are there any nuisances in the neighborhood to detract from its value?
(c) Are street improvements present or absent?
(d) What is the trend of population or city growth in that direction?
(e) What are transportation facilities?

There is no such thing as an exact valuation of a piece of real estate, but since an expert will come nearer judging the exact value than a person unfamiliar with it, it is always best to consult an experienced realtor before buying.

WALL STREET MIRROR

The oil conference begins today in Colorado Springs and it cannot develop anything but bullish feelings for the oils as a group. The so-called high grade oils certainly will respond to the developments. Sinclair will be one of the leaders in the advance. Once the market sponsors of Sinclair have hewed their way through a big block of stock around 42, "SC" will move ahead easily.

Regardless of what the unfilled tonnage statement of the Steel Corporation shows today, it will be off Steel common is a cheap stock. Big things are ahead for the holders of Steel. Payment of an extra dividend in cash, increase in the regular dividend to $8, and a split-up are practically certain. Everyone should have a little Steel common. Someone seems to be there waiting for Fleischmann as the stock is offered for sale. Fleischmann will move ahead rapidly as the time draws near for announcing the plans. A low-price issue which is in exceedingly strong hands is American Hawaiian Steamship. The company is a big factor in the coastwise shipping industry and its cash position figures out around $20 a share for the stock aside from its holdings in other lines.

Prince & Whitely—There ought to be a burst of strength in the good oils this week, because it is unimaginable that the meeting in Colorado Springs will not bring some definite results.

Hornblower & Weeks—In the utilities or rail departments, we do not expect the correction to exceed technical proportion, and we feel that they should undertake the resumption of market leadership early this week.

COMING EVENTS

Trading Items on Stocks—Consolidated Gas is still being bought. Based on the company's earnings as well as future prospects, "G" is one of the most desirable issues in the utility group. We would follow strength and activity in the stock.

General Railway Signal—Is reflexing a probable increase in the demand for its products as a result of the O'Fallon decision. So far this year the company's orders and earnings are substantially ahead of 1928, and final results for 1929 are expected to show a substantial gain over last year "GRS" should make further progress on the upside before meeting with any important resistance.

Atlantic Refining—Affords excellent opportunities for investment at current levels. Today's meeting of the governors of oil-producing states with the committee on conservation, should bring about further restrictive measures and thus improve the general status of the oil industry. "AFI" should be bought at the market.

Universal Leaf Tobacco—Is expected to make a very good showing for itself for the year ending June 30. While "UVV" is not a very active issue, it offers good speculative possibilites at current levels.

Sinclair Consolidated Oil—It is likely that Sinclair will be included in an important merger which is now under discussion. The stock receives excellent support on all reactions, and gives indications of going higher. We believe it offers good speculative possibilities.

Bethlehem Steel—Is expected to do better marketwise after the rights are out of the way. The company's second quarter earnings are running at record levels, and, even though there may be some slowing up of activities in the latter half of the year, final net for 1929 should warrant materially higher prices for "BS."

MORNING STOCK LETTER

American Locomotive at a new high for the year of 125 is still seasonably priced, according to present earnings indications. It is estimated that the New York Central locomotive order of $14,000,000, announced on Saturday, brings business on the company's books close to $50,000,000. At the beginning of 1929 unfilled orders amounted to approximately $19,000,000 compared with less than $3,000,000 at the beginning of 1928. On the indicated amount of business now on hand American Locomotive should be able to cover the $8 dividend with a substantial margin to spare this year. All through the depression in the equipment industry, the company has maintained a strong cash position. At the end of last year cash and equivalents were more than $32,000,000 against total current liabilities of $4,200,000. Public or outside interest in the stock is still relatively small and the shares are, we think, in an excellent position to respond further. We still recommend American Locomotive common, feeling that an old line industrial like this, with recovering earning power, is entitled to substantially higher market appraisal. We also thing that American Steel Foundries and American Car & Foundry are to be recommended for purchase. In Saturday's market Hudson Motors did little or nothing, but we believe that the proven ability of this company to maintain itself competitively in the automobile field is bound to be recognized, and we expect a rising price trend and more activity in the shares to develop shortly. Saturday's market gave little or no clue as to what might be expected this week. We do not expect, however, any material change in the general character of trading for the present at least. It is quite possible that the fear of price cuts in the radio industry is a factor in causing selling of the radio shares. Ordinarily, this is the season of the year when little or no constructive news can be anticipated.

NO STIMULATING NEWS OF WHEAT

REPORTS COMING IN TO CHICAGO CAUSE CONSIDERABLE LIQUIDATION

Nothing Definite Received on Progress of Farm Relief Measure—Liverpool Little Higher

(B C Bond Corporation, Ltd)

CHICAGO, June 10.—Wheat lacked stimulating news, and there was considerable liquidation during the day on the rains in Canada, relief of the drought in Argentina and on good growing weather in the Winter wheat belt.

The conference report on farm relief was scheduled to come up on the Senate agenda. Although predicted opposition was believed to be fading, there was nothing definite on the progress of the measure. With this hitherto supporting influence set aside for the time being, more attention was paid to fundamentals.

The Government report, while estimating ten million bushels less Winter wheat in prospect than shown by the average of the private reports of June 1, indicated a crop of 622 millions, as compared with 579 millions harvested last year.

Liverpool was a little higher, but Buenos Aires was influenced by rain there and declined. There was free selling of July at times against purchases of the deferred deliveries. About half a million Manitobas was taken for export.

Primary receipts were more liberal than for some time. The reactionary trend continued throughout and the close was heavy. We prefer a trading position at present pending developments.

STOCK DEALINGS ON SMALL SCALE

Week Starts With Prices Little Easier at New York—Some Activity in Oils

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd)

NEW YORK, June 10.—Dealings in today's stock market were on a small scale. Prices generally started the new week a little easier, but at the end of the first hour rallying tendencies developed in a number of issues, led by the coppers and oils.

Reports emanating from the oil conference at Colorado Springs served to promote some activity in the petroleum issues, and a number of stocks in this group showed fair-sized price gains.

The coppers, led by Anaconda and Kennecott, enjoyed a brisk rally in the late morning, but most of the early price enhancements was erased later in the session. Sales of copper for export purposes were reported at 2,000,000 pounds today and this would appear to be indicative of a goodly amount of buying of the red metal for European account this week.

In the utility group, Commonwealth Power proved to be a spectacular performer and, after reacting sharply, staged a sharp upturn to a new high price on the current movement.

Mail order shares were active and higher in the early dealings, but subsequently declined in sympathy with the weakness in the grain market. Around mid-day indications of a stiffening in the money quarter provoked further selling and the entire list was subjected to further pressure.

Automotive shares, including General Motors and Packard, were forced to see lower levels, while a number of specialties, such as Bendix and United Aircraft, showed good-sized losses. Steel shares, while somewhat inactive, were generally lower. Steel tonnage figures released today showed a decrease of approximately 125,000 tons last month. However, reports indicate that operations at the various steel centres continue to maintain an excellent pace, especially for this season of the year. Call money renewed at 7 per cent in the final hour of trading. Flurries in the money market may be witnessed during the coming week, and this may serve to deter buying operations of an aggressive sort temporarily.

Going Upstairs Had to Sit Down Breath So Short

Mrs. H. Brousseau, Magog, Que., writes: "For many years I suffered with shortness of breath; then four years ago I had palpitation of the heart, and was so bad I had to sit down two or three times when going upstairs. I read about so I got a box, and in no time I felt better, so I took three boxes more and I have never had shortness of breath since."

FRIGIDAIRE BUILDS MILLIONTH UNIT AT FACTORY IN DAYTON

High explosive bombs crashed for an hour above the city of Dayton, Ohio, the other day as the one-millionth refrigeration unit to be built by Frigidaire Corporation came through one of its many conveyer lines and emerged as a finished electric refrigerator, all ready to freeze ice cubes.

Beneath the bomb smoke, flags fluttered from roofs of the factories and office building. But there was no sounding of whistles to signal even a short shutdown. With the plants far behind orders, thousands of employees continued their work while the steady reverberation of bombs marked the building of the millionth unit.

For many weeks three shifts of workmen had been tending the fifteen great porcelain enameling furnaces, held unvaryingly at 1,600 degrees Fahrenheit. For weeks and weeks other departments had held to the same operating schedule. In one day 134 carloads of finished products were shipped from the factories. And on the day the millionth unit was completed the factories were still farther behind orders than they were two months earlier.

The millionth Frigidaire, bearing a gold serial plate, was shipped by airplane to Atlantic City to be a featured exhibit at the annual convention of the National Electric Light Association.

Refrigeration equivalent to 120,000 tons of melting ice daily is the capacity of the one million units already built, according to E. G. Biechler, president and general manager of the corporation. This ice tonnage would be sufficient to supply 9,600,000 families with twenty-five pounds of ice daily.

"There is a vast difference between the units of 1917 or even as late as 1921, and our present models," said Mr. Biechler. "Back in 1922 there were but two Frigidaire models—one a household cabinet with nine cubic feet of storage capacity and the other with fifteen cubic feet for food storage. The factory price of the lowest priced model, was then $850. The lowest priced model now sells for only one-fifth that price at the factory.

"Production of each quarter of a million marks a very definite period in development of Frigidaire equipment. The first ten years was a period of small production and basic development. The second quarter of a million marked the period when the business was placed upon a mass production basis, and all fundamental problems solved. The third quarter of a million followed the introduction of the new Frigidaire, with its quiet mechanism. The fourth quarter of a million will always be associated in history with the introduction of the Frigidaire cold control, the greatest single contribution to household refrigeration since the building of the first ice box."

The local train was slow and dreary, and the traveler was impatient of the many stops. Finally he stopped the conductor in the aisle and said:

"Good heavens! Can't you go faster than this?"

"Och, yes, sirr. But ay must stay with the train, sirr."

FATALITY IS REPORTED AT LUMBER MILL

Mr. Clark Renny Dies as Result of Accident in Machinery at Nanaimo Plant

LEAVES WIDOW AND FOUR CHILDREN

NANAIMO, June 10—A fatal accident occurred at 10 o'clock this morning at the Nanaimo Lumber Company, on Comox Road, near the Boarding House, when Mr. Clark Renny, age thirty-five years, was instantly killed while working as a sawyer at the mill, when crushed between the saw blade and the machine frame. This is the first fatal accident in the history of the Nanaimo Lumber Company.

He was a native of Northumberland, England, and is survived by his widow and four small children. Three brothers, Alderman James Renny (Nanaimo), John (Chase River) and Joseph Anthony, in England, also survive, and also three sisters residing in England.

Immediately after the accident Mr. Renny was removed to the hospital, but passed away before the ambulance reached the institution.

A veteran of the world war he also served with the British army on German East Africa, being one of 220 who returned out of 1,600 members of the original expedition which was delegated to protect British interests in that sector.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from the parlors to the Nanaimo Cemetery, Rev. H. V. Hinchcon will officiate.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IS JURY'S VERDICT

Recommendation Made That Government Provide an Emergency Hospital at Cowichan Bay

DUNCAN, June 10—Frank Earl Tracey came to his death through an accident while working in the Shawnigan Lake Hotel, Mr. Justice according to the verdict returned by a coroner's jury here on Saturday night. The jury recommended to the Provincial Government that an emergency hospital be provided at Lake Cowichan at the earliest possible date.

The deceased was twenty-five years of age. He was a native of Northumberland, England, and is survived by his widow and four small children. Three brothers, Alderman James Renny (Nanaimo), John (Chase River) and Joseph Anthony, in England, also survive, and also three sisters residing in England.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY MEETS

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR FLOWER SHOW AT SAANICHTON

Demonstrations to Be Given at Lansdowne Demonstration Experimental Farm in July

SIDNEY, June 10.—The regular monthly meeting of the North Saanich Horticultural Society was held in the Wesley Hall on Thursday evening with a good attendance of members. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the president, Mr. J. J. White, ex-president, Mr. J. J. White, occupied the chair.

The evening was given over to the discussion of the Fall Flower and Summer Flower show, to be held in the Saanichton Agricultural Hall on Wednesday afternoon and evening, June 18. The affair will be opened by Mrs. Ernest Brethour, convener, and during the afternoon a musical programme will be given, including vocal and instrumental numbers and exhibition of Fancy dancing. Afternoon tea and refreshments will be available, and in the evening an auction sale of the exhibits will take place. It is hoped that there will be an even finer display of flowers than at previous years, and that year, and catalogues of prize lists will be available in a few days.

It was decided that no indoor sports should be held during the summer months, but outdoor meetings will be available, and it is hoped to visit one of the beautiful private gardens in the next month. Mr. E. M. Straight, of the Lansdowne Experimental Farm, is giving a luncheon at the Farm on July 3 to the Saanich Council of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society, and members of the society are invited. A speaker from Ottawa will be present, and demonstrations will be given of various experiments that are carried on in horticulture which should prove most interesting and helpful. All members of the local society who are attending the luncheon should notify Mrs. Hammond as soon as possible.

The society discussed the local garden contest, and it was reported that three handsome cups are being presented for the three best gardens entered in the contest. In addition, three winning gardens will be entered in the Vancouver Island contest. All residents who propose entering their garden in the contest should send their names to the secretary by June 15.

Mr. Nunn reported on the junior garden contest, and the progress being made by the children in the past month. There are thirteen gardens entered and eight prizes have been already promised. As the society feels that each child should persist in this work, to encourage the continuance of a garden from year to year, that five more prizes will be forthcoming before the end of the contest.

The monthly competition prizes were awarded as follows: First, for a collection of perennials, five varieties, to Master Bill and Mrs. T. Harrison; second, Mrs. Lund; third, Mrs. J. J. White. In the vegetables, for the best three sticks of rhubarb Mr. J. A. Nunn, second, Mrs. F. Lyons; third, Mrs. A. R. Wilson. The special prize donated by Mr. J. J. Wilson for the best three roses was presented to Mrs. E. Hammond.

MANY UPSETS SEEN IN U.S. GOLFING TEST

Experts Are Dismayed by Failure of Ranking Stars to Survive Qualifying Rounds for Open

SWEETSER FAILS TO MAKE GRADE

Some of the nation's finest golfers fell by the wayside yesterday as more than 900 golfers in nineteen cities scattered from coast to coast, sought to qualify for the second open championships to be played at the Winged Foot Golf Club late this month.

Some upsets were to be expected but the experts hardly had counted on seeing the failure to qualify of such stars as Jess Sweetser, former Amateur and British amateur champion; Jess Guilford, one-time Boston golf star, who was a former national amateur titleholder, Willie Guest of Philadelphia, who was runner-up to Bobby Jones in the national open of 1921; Mike Brady, veteran Winged Foot pro, who has been runner-up in the national open of 1927, was in great form as evidenced by his second Oakmont's difficult course in 136 strokes. He made a new course record when he turned in sixty-eight on seventy holes. Jack Blackhall, Plains, N.Y., Willie Klein, East Williston, N.Y., turned a record-breaking sixty-six on his first eighteen to lead the metropolitan district field of 222 with a total of two under par of 146.

Other amateurs, Eddie Reid, Eddie Briggs, McCarthy, intercollegiate champion, and Eddie Tuck, qualified at Salisbury, but Sweetser, Brady and Purnell were among the missing.

At Chicago, where Jock Hutchison led the field with a fine score of 144, five first running stars discovered at the end of the day that they had been playing only for fun. The list of those who failed to qualify included, "Chick" Evans, amateur champion in 1916 and 1920, and open titleholder in 1916, Abe Mosk, Willie Hunter, Gus Novotny and Eddie Gayer.

PRELIMINARY RACES ARE CLOSE

Star Boats and Sailing Dinghies Assure Keen Competition in Regular Series Races

Last Saturday the star boats and sailing dinghies of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, as a preliminary to the regular series which start on June 22. There was a nice sailing breeze from the southeast which suited both classes of boats. Upon the completion of the race the wind had been too strong, but last Saturday the double round of the course was completed in the same time, and the boats could carry full sail without having to shorten sail when the wind got to be too much for them.

The dinghies all got away to an excellent start. Very soon the lead changed from time to time, commencing the second mark thirty-five seconds before Puffin. On the beat to windward, however, Puffin took the lead with Raoo hanging on to her heels, and crossed the line first. On adjustment of handicaps, the results of the dinghy races were as follows:

1. Raoo, Peter Campbell; 2. Henry Lindsay's Bidan; 3. Humphrey Golden's Puffin; 4. Gordon Hetherington's Mabel; 5. Margaret Lindsay's Margaret; 6. George Wallace's dinghy; 8. Dick Hetherington's Mouse.

The stars also got away to a good start, Mr. Blackhall's Marjory having his way into the lead which he held until the finish of the race, he found, all three boats starting the second round with a second lead of each other. It was here that Mr. Blackhall took the lead and finished 1 minute 47 seconds ahead of Mr. M. Barrett, and 2 minutes and 45 seconds ahead of R. P. Blackhall. The results were as follows:

1. R. P. Blackhall's Pirate; 2. Henry Lindsay's Bidan; 3. Humphrey Golden's Gypsy; 4. Gordon Hetherington's Mabel; 5. Margaret Lindsay's Margaret; 6. George Wallace's dinghy; 8. Dick Hetherington's Mouse.

Welcome Robin Becomes Jealous

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

The jealous always are unjust.
Because, forsooth, they will not trust.
—Mrs. Robin.

Jealousy is a bad thing. It makes people do and say things they know they ought to do and say. Jealousy makes one who is jealous and it makes trouble for other people. Jealousy makes Jealousy and he was growing more and more jealous. Jealousy was a strange feeling he was around near where Mrs Robin was hard at work on the new nest. Welcome had seen him several times. Each time, however, he saw him for only a moment or two; then the stranger disappeared as suddenly as he had been. To Welcome hadn't the slightest idea that made him so jealous. He did know that Mrs. Robin must have seen him and that she was keeping the fact from him. He hunted everywhere for the stranger. He went over to the Old Orchard and looked all through it. He went all around Farmer Brown's house and looked in every tree. He looked in all the trees along the road. Not so much as a strange feather did he discover. "That fellow is gone from around here," declared Welcome to himself. "He is hiding somewhere around here. But where it can be I haven't the slightest idea."

He flew over to the place where he had already seen the stranger two or three times—and there was the strange again! Welcome Robin felt perfectly glad that glared at the stranger. The stranger sat perfectly still and paid no attention to Welcome Robin. Welcome Robin puffed out his feathers and made himself look as big as he could. The stranger puffed out his feathers and made himself look just as big as Welcome Robin.

"Who are you?" demanded Welcome Robin. "What are you doing here? This is my home and I want you to keep away from it."

The stranger made no reply. Welcome saw him open his bill two or three times, but there wasn't a sound from him. Welcome made a motion as if he would fly at the stranger. It didn't scare the stranger a bit. The stranger made a motion as if he would fly at Welcome Robin. It looked very much as if there would be a fight then and there. But just at that moment Mrs. Robin arrived the nest with her bill full of mud. Welcome flew over beside her.

"Now don't tell me, my dear," said she. "That you don't see that stranger!"

Mrs. Robin put down her load of mud and looked all around. "I don't see any stranger," said she.

Welcome looked all around. He didn't see any stranger either. It completely upset him. "He was here when you arrived with that mud," declared Welcome Robin. "Not a minute my back was turned he flew right in the nest. I didn't see him. I'll pull all his feathers out! I'll make him come sneaking around my home and not get into trouble! And don't tell me that you haven't seen him! There isn't a place in the nest with your eyes in there!"

"Not a bright!" declared Mrs. Robin rather sharply. "But I'm beginning to think that I'm getting the matter with your eyes. If there is any such stranger around here I guess I'd know it.

"I guess you do know it!" retorted Welcome. "And I'll tell you something. That fellow isn't going to stay around here much longer. I'm going to wait right here until he comes back."

So Welcome Robin sat close beside the nest and waited. The stranger didn't come back. But all the time he was waiting, Welcome Robin grew more and more jealous.

Contract: The bidding by South and West at Contract is the same as at Auction, but East has occasion here to jump his take-out to at least four Diamonds. A take-out of but two Diamonds would be a take-out of three Diamonds (one trick more than necessary) and the so-called "forcing" take-out would give a wrong picture of his hand. Thus East must jump either to four or to five Diamonds. He chooses the safer and more logical bid. West cannot possibly read East's four Diamond bid as anything more than an invitation for West to bid a game. Consequently a six Diamond bid by West would be ridiculous.

BALANCE POINTS OF THE SUNDAY

On South's opening lead of the King of Spades, West plays the Jack. South leads a low Spade. West winning with the Ace and returning the 2. East (Declarer) plays with the 10 of Spades and plays the play of the hand on which one point but ten tricks in the combined hands, seven Diamonds, two Hearts, and one Club. While East is in a position possible that the Queen of Hearts could be dropped on the Ace of Hearts, East's play establishing the Jack for the alleged trick made East the Declarer starting to his bow in first attempting to make Diamond Ace, and in the attempt. Since the establishment of a Club trick requires the use of every entry in Dummy that it is important that East start the Clubs at once instead of leading Trumps. Accordingly he leads the Club Jack, West covers and East returning a small Club which he ruffs.

Declarer then secures two more tricks in Diamonds and one more in Hearts, and East's Hearts are gone. East's Hearts are gone. East's Hearts are gone.

FOUR LIVES ARE LOST BY DROWNING

WINNIPEG, June 10.—Four lives were claimed by drowning over the week-end on the prairies.

Ferdinand Marquis and William Harder, both sixteen, were drowned in a small slough near Rosthern, Sask., when they went bathing to seek relief from the heat.

George Jenkinson, attempting to swim the Souris River at Melita, Man., was unable to make the crossing and succumbed.

Peter J. Aspass was drowned in the Canadian National Railways dam at Moose Jaw. Newly arrived as a farm laborer in the Tilney district, Aspass fell from a boat in which he had been paddling.

SIMBA GOES NORTH ON SUMMER CRUISE

Well-Known Author, Mr. Stewart White, Arrives in British Columbia Waters

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Edward White left two or three days ago for their annual cruise in British Columbia and Alaskan waters. For nearly a week before they left here their smart cruising launch, the Simba, lay at anchor in Tod Inlet, where she excited the admiration of all visitors. In about a fortnight's time the Simba will be joined by the Triton, Mr. Robert Pinkerton's cruising launch, which has also been at Tod Inlet for the last few weeks.

Mr. Stewart Edward White is one of the best-known explorers of British Columbia scenery through his fascinating short stories, which use the Northern Pacific Coast for background. Among the better known of his post-war publications are "Simba" (1918), "Rose Dawn" (1920), "Daniel Boone" (1922), "Ox Tongue," "Qreed" (1925), "Skookum Chuck," "Lions in the Path" (1926) and "Back of Beyond." The author, who was born in Michigan, is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. During the Great War he served with the American forces as a major in the 144th U.S.A. Field Artillery.

Sunset Trio Tonight

The Sunset Trio, composed of violin, 'cello and piano, will be presented over Victoria's radio station at 6:15 this evening. The programme will be of highly charming nature, featuring numbers from various grand and comic operas.

The nightly hour with the Sunset Broadcasters will be opened in a fitting manner with the playing of the "Grand March" from Giuseppe Verdi's opera, "Aida." "Aria Cantabile," from "The String Quartette," will then be played along with a selection from Dudley Fryml's highly successful musical comedy, "The Firefly." The "Intermezzo" from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" will also be presented over CPCT, as well as the "Quartette," from Verdi's "Rigoletto." To-night's "Sunset" programme will close with two request numbers, "The Desert Song" and "One Alone."

Between 11 o'clock and midnight tonight a programme of dance music will be heard over the local station, when the Crystal Garden Orchestra is presented. CPCT will be silent soon after the midnight hour has come and gone.

Such delightful salads

To please your family and your guests do as these women do. Serve salads every day and serve with them dressings made in your own home with Colman's Mustard as one of the ingredients.

English mustard enhances the savour of a salad dressing—increases its zest—gives it an added flick of flavour. Also mustard is healthful because it aids digestion.

A man who had taken pity on a lad and given him work as runner clerk kept him at the office rather later than usual one Saturday.

The lad became sulky and performed his duties in a very dilatory manner. At last his employer turned on him.

"You ungrateful rascal, where would you be now but for me?"

"At a cricket match," was the answer.
